Cuban Cabinet Bids for Change in U. S. Policy

Lays Break Of Ties to Ike's Rule

JFK's Attitude Reason for Hope

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban Cabinet made a thinly veiled bid today for a change in U. S. policy toward Fidel Castro's regime under the incoming Kennedy administration. There was no indication of any change in Castro's policy toward the United States, however.

Long-Night Session

A statement issued after a long night cabinet session put the entire blame for the U. S. break in diplomatic relations with Cuba on the Eisenhower administration. The outgoing U. S. administration was also accused of "threatening with other (aggressions) worse and much more serious," an obvious reference to Cuba's charges that American invasion is imminent.

The statement expressed the hope that relations would be re-established "when the governors of the United States finally understand that it is possible to maintain sincere and friendly relations with the people of Cuba on the basis of respect for their sovereign rights, their legitimate interests and their national dignity."

No Mention of Kennedy

The statement made no specific mention of President-elect John F. Kennedy, but the government radio-TV network throughout Wednesday had emphasized that Kennedy did not participate in the decision to break relations.

Kennedy during the presidential campaign criticized the Castro regime harshly, and the Cuban prime minister in turn called the Democratic candidate an "ignorant, illiterate, beardless kid."

Base Not Discussed

There had been unconfirmed reports that cabinet would also discuss the U. S. Naval base at Guantanamo, but the statement made no mention of it. The United States has declared it will hold and defend the base despite the diplomatic break, and Castro has said several times he would get the base away from the United States by legal means, not by force.

The United States holds the base under a treaty it contends can be scrapped only by agreement of both countries.

Departing Planes Packed

Planes leaving Havana for the United States were packed with Americans quitting Cuba, but many more stayed to take their chances under the regime Eisenhower called a dictatorship. The American flag was hauled down from over the U. S. Embassy, and most of the embassy staff sailed for home.

Charge D'Affaires Daniel M. Braddock and a 12-man skeleton staff set about closing the U. S. Embassy and turning over U. S. government affairs in Cuba to Swiss Ambassador Walter Bossi.

Evacuation Is Smooth

The evacuation went off smoothly and the militiamen were withdrawn. While the Americans were packing their bags to leave, 35 Soviet tourists were being welcomed at Havana Airport.

Woman Slain as She Slept

Police Lack Clues In Orange Killing

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Police today still were without clues in the mysterious slaying of Mrs. Charles Learn, 40, shot to death apparently as she slept.

Her body was discovered in her home Wednesday after Mrs. Learn failed to report for work at the office of a local eye doctor.

Autopsy Bares Bullet

A preliminary examination led officers to believe the woman died of natural causes although her face was covered with blood.

Check on Atomic Blast in Which 3 Servicemen Died

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Nuclear experts gingerly probed within a silo-shaped building today, seeking the cause—and nature—of an atomic reactor explosion that killed three young servicemen.

They were hampered by radioactivity so dangerously high that each could safely remain inside the structure little more than a minute.

The damaged reactor was deep inside the metal-sheathed building. So, too, were the bodies of two of its victims: It was too dangerous to try to recover them. The third body was removed within minutes of the explosion Tuesday night.

It was the first fatal accident in the history of this country's atomic energy program.

The blast occurred on the Atomic Energy Commission's sprawling, half-million-acre National Reactor Testing Station in eastern Idaho, about 40 miles west of this city of 34,000. AEC officials as-

He'd Sign Repeal of Full Crews

Rocky Wants Jobs For Those Idled

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has taken this stand on the state's full-crew railroad laws: If the Legislature passes a measure to repeal the laws, with a provision for "human factors," he will sign it.

The stand, announced by the Republican governor Wednesday night in response to questions at a Press Club dinner in Syracuse, likely will set the stage for controversy early in the 1961 legislative session.

Act for Speedy Refund

The session opened Wednesday. Meanwhile, Republicans in control of the Legislature planned speedy action to refund $90 million in 1960 state-income taxes.

A GOP bill, for a 10 per cent cut in personal income taxes, will be opposed by Democratic tax-relief proposals when the legislative working session gets under way Monday night. Democrats favor relief by raising personal exemptions, now $600 per person.

Rockefeller told the press club the Republican Party in New York State, after losing the presidential election, was "down but not out." He said the organization would be strengthened.

Not Clear Previously

The governor's position on the touchy political issue of full-crew laws had not been clear previously.

He stressed that any repeal legislation should make provisions for the "human factors" and the taking care of workers whose jobs are in dispute.

The laws specify the number of crewmen needed to operate trains. Railroads say the number is excessive. Unions contend the specifications insure safe operation.

The governor said specific details on full-crew legislation — as part of a package to help financially-pressed railroads — had not been completed.

The offer of other employment to workers who would be affected by a repeal measure reportedly would be included in the Rockefeller plan.

To Use Own Approach

The governor apparently is working out his own approach to the problem, rather than accepting a measure already introduced.

Sen. Austin W. Erwin, R-Geneva, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and Assemblyman Fred W. Preller, R-New York, new chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, submitted a bill at the opening session that would repeal the laws.

TAKE OATHS OF OFFICE — Newly appointed Louis G. Bruhn (right) takes oath as Supreme Court Justice for the Third Judicial District, administered by Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth of Port Ewen, the district's senior jurist, who noted that the Kingston man, formerly county judge, is the ninth Ulster County man to sit on the bench in the last 100 years. Following his own installation, Justice Bruhn, whose appointment came Tuesday from Governor Rockefeller, gave the oath of office to Justice Harry E. Schirick (left) of this city, as an official referee for the district. He retired from the Supreme Court bench in December having reached the retirement age of 70. Schirick served since 1935, longer than any other local justice. (Freeman photo)

Careers Traced by Elsworth

Bruhn Ninth Justice From Ulster County

Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn, who took his oath of office Wednesday, is the ninth resident of Ulster County to serve on the Supreme Court bench since the Civil War. He was appointed Tuesday by Governor Rockefeller to replace Justice Sydney F. Foster who was elected to the Court of Appeals last November.

At the time of his appointment, Bruhn was county judge, an office he held since Jan. 1, 1956. His elevation to the Supreme Court leaves the county bench vacant, to be filled by appointment from the Governor.

Justice Bruhn took his oath of office to serve in the Third Judicial District at the Ulster County court house, administered by Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth of Port Ewen, senior justice in the district since the retirement Dec. 31 of Justice Harry E. Schirick of this city who reached the retirement age of 70 last year.

Schirick Now Referee

Justice Schirick became an official referee for the third district yesterday, his oath of office being administered by Justice Bruhn after he had been officially installed.

In giving the oath to Justice Bruhn, Justice Elsworth reviewed the careers of the prominent Ulsterites who graced the Supreme Court bench in the past century and said it was his firm belief that Justice Bruhn would follow the path of those who preceded him.

Justice Elsworth pointed out that Justice Harry E. Schirick, elected to the Supreme Court bench in 1935, had served longer than any other local resident. Next came Theodore R. Westbrook, prominent Kingston attorney, member of congress and outlined labor's concern over imports.

Would Give Power

Rep. Harold C. Ostertag, R-N.Y., sees foreign imports as contributing to the unfavorable international balance of payments now plaguing the U. S. economy.

The basic legislation he proposes would give the secretary of labor power to investigate working conditions under which imports adversely affecting a domestic produce are manufactured.

He could recommend a higher tariff or lower import quotas for goods produced under working conditions that fail to meet minimum American standards.

Keating Was Plan

Keating also plans to introduce a bill based on labor costs. An aide to Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., said he (Goodell) also is drafting a bill but it is still too early to outline details.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., introduced a bill similar to Ostertag's after the tariff commission last year declined to recommend a higher tariff or an import quota for textiles produced in his congressional district. An aide said he probably would introduce a similar bill this year.

The Industrial Bulletin published monthly by the New York State Department of Labor featured an article last month that

Sea, Army, Air Units Are Ready

Carriers, 30 DDs Now in China Sea

HONOLULU (AP) — Powerful elements of the U. S. 7th Fleet— and alerted American bases in the Western Pacific—stood ready today to deal with any eventuality in the developing Laos crisis.

Forces Ready to Move

That was the appraisal of informed sources who declined to be quoted. But they said that in addition to naval units in the South China Sea, air, Marine and Army forces were ready to move on the Southeast Asian kingdom from bases in Okinawa, Japan, Formosa and the Philippines.

The assessment of American readiness came after a statement issued Wednesday by Adm. Harry D. Felt, top U. S. commander in the Pacific.

"We are prepared to accomplish whatever may be required of us by higher authorities of our government. Certain precautionary measures have been taken. These include the augmentation of our airlift capability in the Western Pacific and a re-positioning of some of our mobile fleet force," Felt said.

Clark Wing Closest

Military sources said Marine elements ready to give any needed assistance include the 20,000-man 3rd Marine Division and the Marine Air Wing on Okinawa. The Leathernecks are trained in jungle warfare.

The closest unit to Laos is the 405th Fighter Wing at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines. It is equipped with F100 and F102 jet fighters.

The U. S. 7th Fleet has assembled in the South China Sea a force of three carriers, about 30 destroyers, a dozen submarines and escort and supply vessels.

In Hawaii, a key unit of the 25th Infantry Division embarked on "practice mobility exercises" Wednesday.

Adults May Sign For Night School During Next Week

The adult education classes sponsored by the Kingston Board of Education (Consolidated) will resume Monday, Jan. 16. Anyone interested may register in the office of the director of adult education in the Vocational Building any school day from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m., or Monday and Wednesday evenings, Jan. 9 and 11 in Room V-110 of the Vocational Building from 7 to 9 o'clock.

An enrollment of at least 16 persons is required before any class can be started. Therefore, anyone interested is urged to register not later than Friday, Jan. 13. Additional registration can be accepted any evening while night school is in session.

Diplomats Expect Other Nations to Pressure Castro

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—High diplomatic officials expect new moves next month aimed at putting pressure on Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Two of the leading members of the 21-nation Organization of American States — the United States and Brazil — will have new presidents in office by the end of this month.

The United States is expected to favor: (1) a concerted, short-of-force effort such as a cooperative patrol against arms shipments from Cuba to other Latin-American countries; (2) a joint tracking of Castro agents; and (3) economic restrictions aimed at Cuba.

Sure of Withdrawal

The U. S. decision to break diplomatic relations with Havana is not expected to set off any quick chain reaction in other Latin-American capitals. But those who favored the break are optimistic that the eventual result will be a more widespread withdrawal by other Latin-Americans of their envoys to Havana.

Panama called home Wednesday its ambassador to Cuba "for consultation," giving rise to speculation that the Central-American country may break with Castro. The Panamanian government declined comment.

Will Hold Navy Base

The U. S. government meanwhile is confident it is in a strong position both legally and militarily in its plan to hold indefinitely its big Guantanamo Navy Base in eastern Cuba.

The break in relations had no legal effect on the treaty under which the United States leases Guantanamo, the White House said Wednesday.

Most other treaties involving the United States and Cuba also remain in effect, according to U. S. experts. These include U. S.-Cuban agreements on civil air transport, civil uses of atomic energy, investment guarantees, postal ex-

No Loss in Operation Of Colonial Gardens

Not a cent of rents or charges have been lost in the operation of the city's Colonial Gardens housing development since its opening in 1953, Alexander Yosman, executive director of the Kingston Housing Authority, and manager of the project, revealed at the authority's annual meeting Wednesday.

Built at a cost of $1,300,000, the development has paid its way taking in $444,989.79 in rents and charges since it opened, and operating without vacancy except those required for moving and replacement of occupants.

George E. Yerry Jr., was elected the authority's chairman for his seventh term. Others elected were: Max Mone, vice-chairman; George L. Chilson, treasurer; Edward J. Conger, assistant treasurer, and John A.

Ferroxcube Has No Plans to Bring In 25 Families

The Ferroxcube Corporation of America, with a plant in Saugerties, denied a report circulated today that they intended to bring into the area some 25 families as a part of an immediate expansion program.

B. J. Kane, plant superintendent, told a Freeman reporter that there evidently had been a misunderstanding and that the company had no intention of bringing into the area additional workers on a large scale basis. He emphasized the fact that Ferroxcube's policy was to recruit additional help from the local area as additional workers were needed. Thus far Ferroxcube has enjoyed a considerable expansion over a period of some 10 years and local help has been hired.

The misunderstanding apparently came through a long range planning program which will in all probability make necessary the hiring of highly trained specialists who are not available in this area.

The company has had a steady growth over the past several years and feels that this growth will continue. In anticipation of a progressive growth, company officials sought material from both the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce and the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for a procurement brochure which will be issued to attract highly trained engineers, technical and sales force personnel.

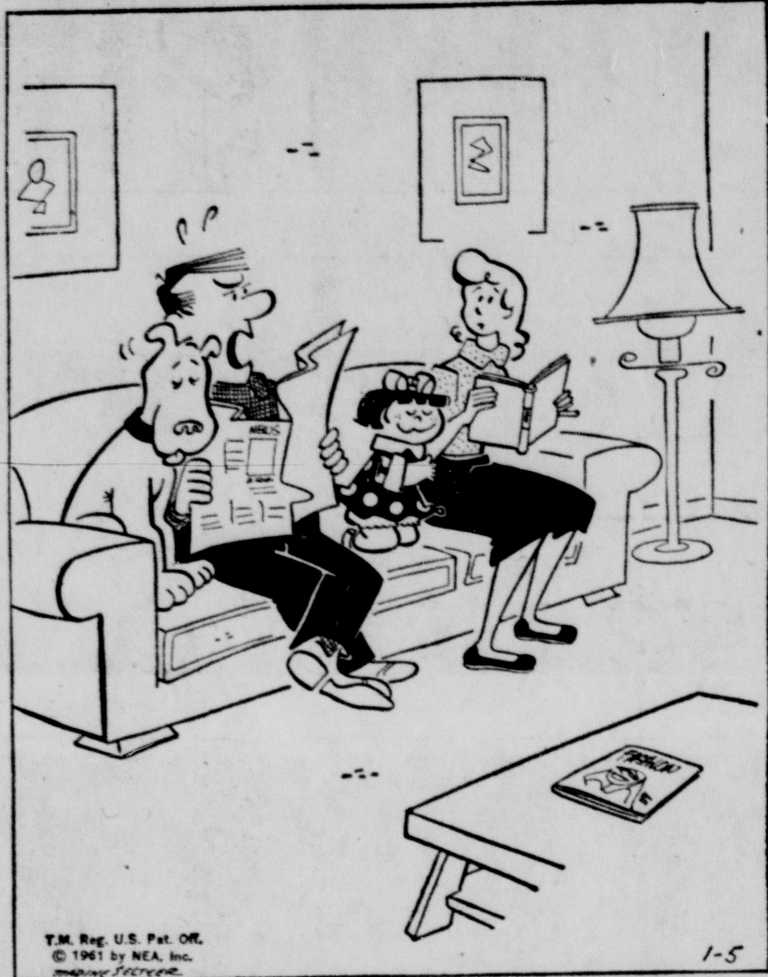

Speaking for the company Kane said the Ferroxcube company has experienced a continued growth and has every reason to believe that growth will continue.

"With that in mind, and under a long range planning program, we feel that to keep pace with our growth we will need a number of engineers, technical and sales force personnel and have planned to prepare this procurement brochure setting forth the local opportunities. It is a long range program under which we plan to bring in this highly specialized force as needed," Plant Superintendent Kane said.

He pointed out it was a plan based on future need and no definite number of new personnel was now fixed.

PLATTEKILL NEWS

PLATTEKILL—A Christmas program was presented at the Plattekill Grange Hall on Tuesday evening, with more than 100 persons in attendance.

The program, presented by members of the organization and their families, was arranged by the lecturer, Mrs. Charles Everett, and included readings, recitations, instrumental and vocal selections, carols and chorus singing. Mrs. Burton Van Aken was accompanist at the piano.

A one-act play concluded the evening entertainment, after which gifts were distributed, and refreshments served by hostesses Mrs. Robert Richter, Mrs. Walter Kleeman and Mrs. Robert Zuelle.

Members of the youth committee conducted a dance at the hall on New Year's Eve, when a committee of grange officers were chaperones.

Year books are being distributed by the secretary, Mrs. Ira Merwin, and it was announced that the next regular meeting will be held Saturday evening, Jan. 14, at the hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Entrialgo announce the birth of a daughter, Christine Louise, at St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh, Sunday, Dec. 25. Mrs. Entrialgo is the former Amor Garcia, of Villa Nueva, Plattekill.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ingram are parents of a son, Michael George, born at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, Sunday, Dec. 25.

Participating in the Christmas concert held recently at the Leptondale Elementary School, were local students Frank Ruggiero, Sharon Scheer, Anna Diaz, Albert Vega, William Engle, Joseph Rutigliano.

In the chorus were Diane and Russell Carpenter, Helen and Paul Viera, Martin Feldt, Judith and Joseph Kalisky, William and Kenneth Paltridge, Ann Vega, Suzanne West, George Edwards, Linda Imperato, Frank Ruggiero, Sharon Scheer, Kenneth Seikstad, Janet Foster, Martha Small, Karen Purdy, Loretta Martin, Linda Napoleone, Margaret Decker, Robert DePew, John Egiziano.

Joseph Rutigliano, Barbara DeVoe and Frances Feliciano.

The annual Christmas entertainment held at the Plattekill Methodist Church, included the following participants: Eileen, Henry, Philip, Edward and Linda Van Houten, Christine Grimmer, Paul and Joanne Evans, William and Dorothy Christopher, Jane Lorenzen, Patricia and Linda Locier, William Carpenter, Christine, Michael, Carol and John Velez, Karen Wilson, Evangeline Arrenas, Frederick Caba, Joan and Audrey Lozier, Wayne Ettell, Gregg and Roger Harris, Robert Faurte, Frank Perez, Skye, Gian, Margie and Joey O'Jea, George Edwards, Louis Arenas, Kenneth Serikstad, Kim and Lori Wager, Charlene Caba, Bruce Montanya, Sharon Sutton, Sharon Scheer, Sally Hoar, Beth Edwards, Susan Ackerman, Edward, George and John Velez, Gary Williams, Carl Hushel, George and Norman Alpaugh.

The Rev. Carl Hartman, pastor of the Plattekill and Rossville Methodist Churches led in prayer and pronounced the benediction. Special Christmas music was arranged, with Mrs. Edmund F. Wager Sr., organist.

Mrs. Eleanor Kalisky, former teacher in the Plattekill Elementary School, and who was recently transferred to the Leptondale Elementary School in the Wallkill Central District No. 1, will resume teaching Monday, Jan. 9, at the conclusion of the holiday vacation.

Word was received here recently of the death of Mrs. William J. Hinckley, 52, of New Jersey, who was a former resident of Plattekill. Mrs. Hinckley was the former Delia Butler, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Butler of Plattekill. Among survivors are five sisters, Mrs. Nellie Burnett, Miss Mary Butler of Poughkeepsie, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor of New Paltz, Mrs. Mildred Fowler of Virginia, Mrs. Kathryn Maher of Utica; two brothers, James Butler of Poughkeepsie and Albert Butler of Wallkill.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You'll find a variety of offerings this weekend at your supermarket or neighborhood grocery meat counter.

There are such diversified offerings as beef, pork, lamb, veal, fish and, broiling and frying chickens.

Broilers and fryers are plentiful and running well above a year ago because of recent 15 to 20 per cent increases in chick placements. Prices this week are up 2 to 4 cents a pound in some areas, down 4 to 10 cents in others.

Leg of lamb is the feature in some parts of the East and Midwest, while lamb chops also are pushed in a few sections. Cuts of beef run more to the expensive items, such as sirloin steak and top round rather than to chuck roast. Pork specials are limited to the small smoked picnics or shoulder roasts.

Fish fanciers can choose from among shrimp, scallops, cod steaks, halibut and flounder fillets.

Best buys among vegetables this week are nearby beets and carrots where they're available. Florida celery, red and Danish varieties of cabbage from western New York State, Chinese cabbage from Florida, potatoes, sweet potatoes from North Carolina, endive, escarole, radishes, fall squash, leeks, mushrooms and parsnips.

Bunched beets from Texas and Arizona are a good buy, along with anise, artichokes, broccoli, brussels sprouts, California celery, leafy greens from all over, spinach, summer squash, iceberg and romaine lettuce from California, Florida and Arizona, corn, peppers and tomatoes.

Florida grapefruit and tangerines join cranberries and California oranges on the best buy list among fruits this week.

Good fruit buys include avocados, apples, pears, grapes and Spanish melons.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-RADIO WRITER

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the dirtiest tricks a television reporter can play on the medium's performers (and certainly on press agents) is to recall after a show has made its debut some of the advance promises they made about it.

Last August, in Hollywood, this reporter talked with and wrote about many stars and stars-to-be and the series which were soon to be launched on the networks. The head man of a Western told me he believed his series would prove the most adult and shocking—"hard and realistic"—ever to win a prime-time spot. It turned out to be just another 30-minute horse opera and has been canceled.

The young actor playing a lead role in another Western told me confidently that he chose the role because it would make him, inside a year, a "sex symbol" comparable with Elvis Presley. It shows no signs of doing so and the show slipped into the TV stream without causing a ripple. Therefore, it is with understandable cynicism that this reporter passes on the word that Nanette Fabray thinks that her new comedy series which bows in Friday night on NBC (8:30-9 Eastern Standard Time) contains "the best material I've ever had in my life."

Miss Fabray, an extremely talented performer and a most ingratiating young woman, may be right. But even if she is exaggerating, she may be forgiven: The series was created and many of the scripts were written by her husband, Randall MacDougal, and the idea is based on the home life of the Randall MacDougalis.

Lowville Man Is Given MVD Post

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Francis P. Mangan of Lowville is the new deputy commissioner for the Motor Vehicle Department's northern region.

Mangan, who will be paid $10,600 a year for supervising operations in 14 counties, was appointed Wednesday. He had been sheriff of Lewis County since 1953. The region, with Utica headquarters, includes these counties: Seneca, Cayuga, Onondaga, Oswego, Cortland, Madison, Oneida, Lewis, Jefferson, St. Lawrence, Franklin, Herkimer, Hamilton and Otsego.

It has been estimated there are four million sleepwalkers in the United States.

Could Have Modern Parallel

Leaders' Failure to Compromise Lets Little Men Start Civil War

Editor's Note—Reasonable discussion and compromise had been spurned by the Congress, the conventions, the people. Now the issue was changing and a decision which would affect the lives of 30 million Americans passed by default as 1860 ended to a pair of obscure officers. In the third of four articles on the needless war, historian Bruce Catton points to the possibility of a modern parallel.

By BRUCE CATTON
Written for The Associated Press

Instead of any compromise, the election of Abraham Lincoln in 1860 was followed by the secession of a number of the Southern states.

At least in the beginning, the act of secession was much more a political maneuver than a really warlike gesture. It was a means of putting on the political heat. The tragedy was that it evoked a defiant reaction in the North—and, at the same time, changed the fundamental issue from the simple question of slavery, about which neither side was ready to fight, into a question of Union about which a great many people would fight.

Time Is Wasted
After Lincoln's election Congress and the country had a little more than five months to settle things. These months were wholly wasted. Efforts were indeed made, in and out of Congress, to work out a compromise, but they failed completely—chiefly because nobody really wanted to compromise. The machinery of democracy, still available, went unused. There were no real debates; there was a great deal of oratory and there was much editorializing, but almost all of it involved nothing much more than calling one's opponent a scoundrel. The notion that this scoundrel might have at least a little of the right on his side, and that sooner or later he would have to be dealt with, seems to have entered nobody's head.

The area of choice does not remain open forever. After the state of South Carolina announced its secession the area of choice between North and South grew very narrow. Originally it had embraced the whole country—national party conventions, nationwide campaign, national election and all. These had made no choice. Then Congress had its chance, and Congress made no choice.

The Beginning of Tragedy
Now the thing was delegated to a fantastic extent. In Charleston harbor there was Ft. Sumter, and in nearby Ft. Moultrie there were 70-odd federal soldiers under a major in the regular Army. This officer, Maj. Robert Anderson, was told, from Washington, that he was to keep the peace, but that if in his judgment the South Carolina authorities were really menacing he could move his men over into Ft. Sumter, which was much more defensible than Ft. Moultrie.

At the same time, suspecting that Maj. Anderson might do this, South Carolina authorities armed a steamboat and put it to patrolling Charleston harbor; and the militia captain who commanded this boat was told to prevent the federal soldiers from occupying Ft. Sumter, using force if in his judgment that might be necessary.

Decision in Obscure Hands
And there, as 1860 ended, was where the power to make the fateful decision lay—in the hands of an obscure major of regulars and an equally obscure captain of militia. They had the authority to begin shooting if in their opinion shooting was called for. The fact that 30 million Americans would carry on the shooting if they began it was beside the point. The terrible question—war or no war—had somehow been evaded by the people and their political leaders during all of the months when the machinery of democracy was available for the solution of that question. Now the question could be answered by a major and a captain.

(There is something hauntingly familiar about that situation. Can we imagine anything like it today? Are there, somewhere, on this globe a major and a captain, eyeing—let us say—their radar screens, given the authority, which ought to lie somewhere farther up the line, to transmit the signals that will envelop civilization in earthquake, wind and fire?)

Somebody Has to Decide
The point of all of this is that when we fail to cope with a problem we do not necessarily dispose to find an answer to the most momentous problem that they faced. Events themselves at last forced an answer, and it was fearfully expensive when at last it was made.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 5, 1961

JUSTICE LOUIS G. BRUHN

The City of Kingston and the County of Ulster as well as the Bar Association of Ulster County again have been honored by the elevation of a native son to the Supreme Court of the State of New York. Ulster County Judge Louis G. Bruhn has been appointed to the Supreme Court bench by Governor Rockefeller to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Sydney F. Foster, who now is serving as judge of the Court of Appeals.

Judge Bruhn's predecessors and colleague from Ulster County, who have served the third judicial district of the state, which includes the counties of Albany, Columbia, Greene, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Sullivan and Ulster, have been capable jurists of unusual courage and devotion with a fine judicial temperament and a sense of justice and fairness. These men set a high standard of performance in public office which others could well emulate in the public interest.

One of these illustrious jurists is Justice Harry E. Schirick, a native of Kingston, who retired January 1 of this new year, due to the mandatory age limit.

At the present time, another native son, Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth of Port Ewen is serving this district on the Supreme Court bench with notable distinction.

Another Kingstonian, the late Judge John T. Loughran, rose to the exalted position of Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals of the State of New York.

These and the other members of the Ulster County Bar Association who carved for themselves a niche in the tradition of the bench and bar deserve a worthy successor.

Judge Bruhn's training and wide experience eminently qualify him for this high office. An outstanding member of the Ulster County Bar, he has been practicing law since 1934 and has served Ulster County as district attorney, county judge, and judge of the children's court. This together with his devotion to duty and his profound sense of fairness assure the people of this judicial district of a continuance of the devoted public service for which Ulster County jurists always have been noted.

IT'S IN THE BEDROOM

A man's dwelling may be his castle, but what part is legally his home was left for the Wisconsin tax department to decide. The question arose because two communities wanted a rebate on state income taxes paid by Curtis McKay.

The McKay house stands on a boundary line dividing the two communities, Linn and Lake Geneva. Each claimed it was entitled to a local refund coming from the state on McKay's tax payments.

Lake Geneva won. And why? Well, the state decided that McKay's home was on the Lake Geneva side of the line. So now maybe that Edgar A. Guest line ought to read, "It takes a heap of 'sleeper' to make a house a home." And if someone comes knocking on the castle door, just run to the bedroom for sanctuary.

PACING OUR AGE

It is something of a shock to note that the Martin Co., one of the pioneer airplane manufacturers in this country, has built its last airplane. From now on it will concentrate on missile and space work.

It is a shock, that is, to many of the older generation still living who were children or young adults before the airplane was even invented. It is no surprise to the children of today, impatient to conquer the planets.

MONUMENTAL CARELESSNESS

Preliminary estimates by the National Fire Protection Assn. place deaths from fire during 1960 at well over the 11,000 mark. The property loss is expected to top 1½ billion dollars. When final figures are in, overall increase in deaths and damage compared to 1959 is foreseen.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
THE TARIFF QUESTION

Every day, public relations literature crosses my desk, as it does the desks of others, dealing with some industry that regards itself as being slaughtered. Occasionally such material also comes from a labor union. But when the men's clothing industry gets excited, the subject takes on special interest. The men's clothing industry, both on its employer and labor union sides, has always been what might be called liberal and internationalistic. It is an industry dominated by Jacob Potofsky, president of its union.

It is this industry which now concerns itself with the word, survival, as the watch industry, the knitwear industry, the button industry, the ceramic industry and many others have complained. Granted that we can compete with other countries in a free market, no free market exists anywhere. This is a major economic evil of 1961.

The industry's circular states: "But survival for America concerns more than defense against guided missiles.

"To many hard-pressed high-wage American industries, survival depends upon defenses against guided merchandise" — imports from low-wage countries aimed at American domestic and export markets.

"In the men's clothing industry we cannot complain that we have not been warned; the alert has been sounded often, loud and clear."

Then it goes on to say: "Six months ago, the General President of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, Jacob S. Potofsky, portrayed the peril of the wage-war in an effort to wake us up:

"For most apparel manufacturers, the rising tide of imports from low-wage countries threatens disaster. They cannot, in the second half of the 20th century, compete successfully against 19th century wage and working conditions. No American apparel manufacturer, no matter how efficient, no matter how forward-looking, can long survive against wage levels of 10 and 12-cents an hour.

"If apparel imports from low-wage countries continue to increase, apparel factories will be forced to close. The closing of these factories will mean the loss of close to a million-and-a-quarter jobs in the needle trades."

Of course, these industries were warned. The clothing industry devoted itself for many years to supporting every form of political and economic internationalism. But throughout the world there are tailors and a suit can be made by a tailor in Hongkong or Tokyo or Ghana or anywhere, as well as in the United States. In fact, Italian tailors are supposed to be the best of all.

Price then becomes the determining factor in the American market. Nobody looks for a label "Made in America." That is an unpopular, isolationist slogan. Thus, the store sells a suit with two pairs of trousers, made in Puerto Rico or Hongkong, out of cloth, made anywhere, perhaps in Poland. The American workers can go hang.

It is curious how the wheel turns. It used to be the big industries that wanted a protective tariff. The big industries are protecting themselves by exporting jobs, that is by establishing factories abroad; big industry also has increased automation which means fewer jobs. The theory in favor of automation is that there will be job transference, that more workers will move from the mill and factory to the services, to playing the saxophone and guitar in combos or being a manicurist or a secretary.

The tailors are not easily shifted. In the higher echelons, such as designers, they are professionals with specialized skills; in the lowest echelons, they are unskilled workers, often unsuited for other types of work. Competition within this industry remains keen and the margins of profit are not very large.

Such an industry can readily be wiped out by cheap competition from abroad, particularly if the competition is subsidized by governments. From a labor union standpoint, this can also mean an enormous loss of membership. The worker has seniority rights only if he remains in his own industry and in his own union. If a man shifts from being a pants presser to selling peanuts at a ball game, he loses his life-work in seniority rights, in fringe benefits and insurances that can be devastating to a family. From the standpoint of economics, these transferences of jobs may be sound; from a sociological standpoint, they can be destructive.

This question becomes more pressing as unemployment increases, particularly in large cities where life can be difficult in depressed times. Delay in dealing with it can only increase the danger. (Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Cruel Myth of 'Drafts'

Can Cause Much Heartache

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the many ways I've wasted time and energy during my medical career is trying to persuade people that there's not an illness in the books that's caused by drafts. A draft is defined in Webster's Dictionary as "a current of air passing through a channel or entering through an aperture."

That definition is accepted by those who blame colds, sinus infections, muscle pains, neuralgia and what-not on drafts, perhaps someone will explain why it is we're not all ill all of the time.

There can't be a day or a night or even an hour when we're not, at some time, in the path of "a current of air" as described in the dictionary.

My reason for being particularly upset about this matter today will become clearer after you've read the following letter from a distraught mother who lives in Kentucky:

"When I brought my baby daughter home from the hospital," she writes, "I noticed three or four blisters around her navel cord. I thought it was just a skin irritation, caused from a drainage of the cord. But, a few days later, when the cord dropped off, I saw that the blisters had spread upward to the chest.

"I phoned my doctor, and his nurse said there had been quite a lot of this infection in newborn babies and there was nothing to worry about. She prescribed an ointment. But the blisters continued to spread from the navel to the neck and then up to the face and into her hair until the whole top of her head was covered.

"She was fussy and whined some but, other than that, didn't seem to be sick. On the morning of the day she was 20 days old, I fed her the 2nd bottle and she was perfectly all right.

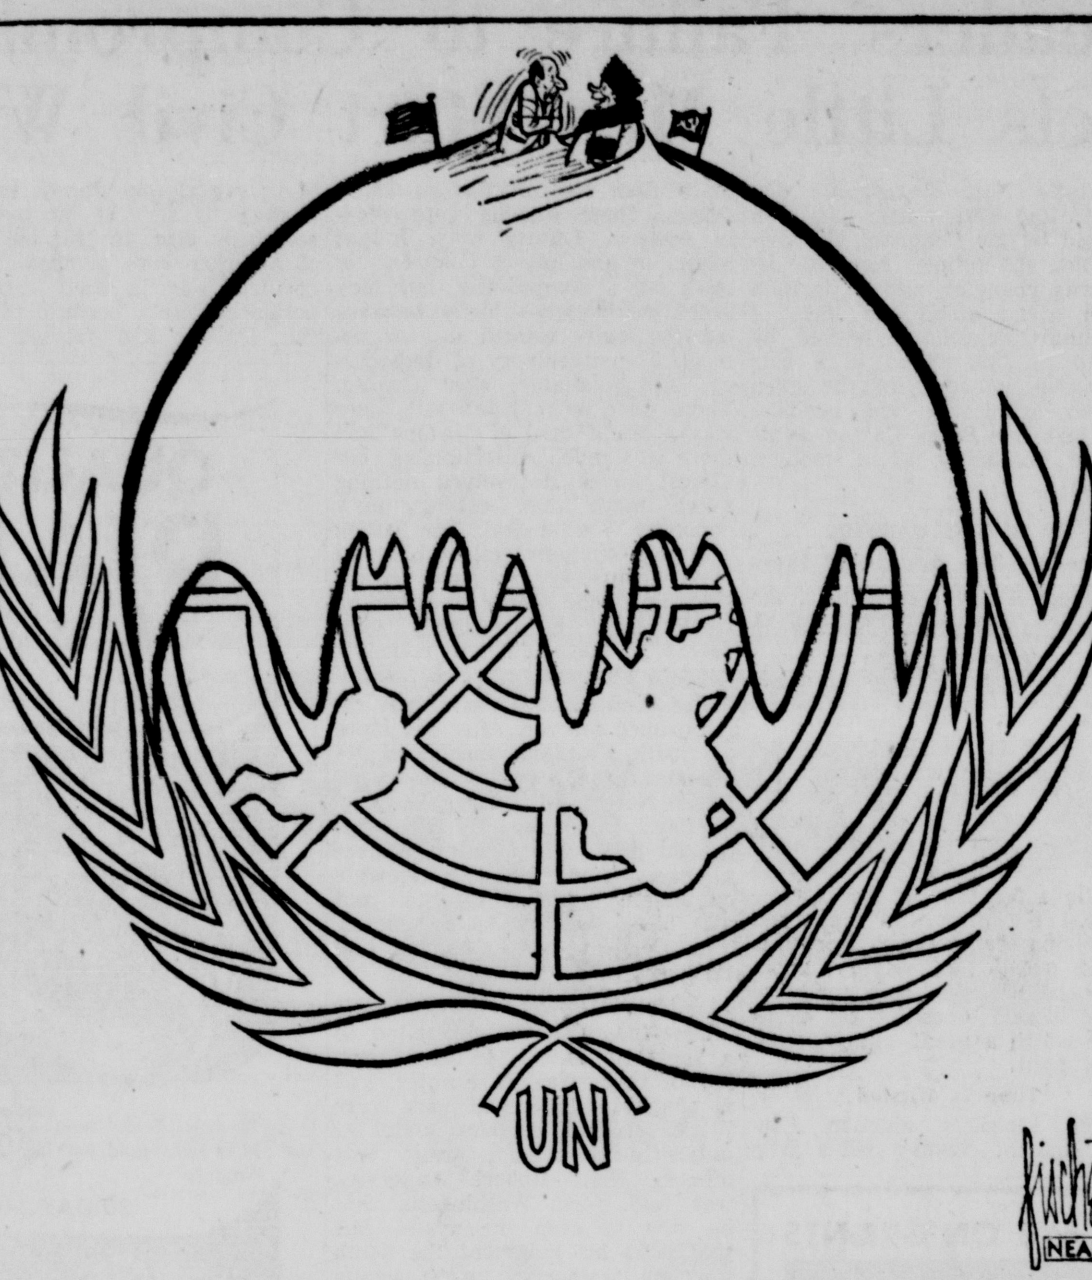

"She ate good and didn't spit up any of her milk. Then, when I got up at 6 a. m., she was dead. And the coroner said she died of pneumonia.

"Please don't think I'm being silly in writing like this," she continues. "But if I knew what caused her death, I don't believe her death itself would worry me so. I keep thinking maybe if I did something wrong. Like giving her the wrong kind of milk. Or letting her get IN A DRAFT to catch cold. . . . I would be more grateful than you can possibly imagine if you could tell me anything at all that might explain her death."

Draft? No indeed, you dear, dear mother! I am truly sorry that you do not regularly see these columns or you'd clearly understand that your baby was a victim of this cursed staphylococcal infection that has plagued maternity hospitals throughout the world.

Unhappily, the murderous "golden staphylococcus" has not even the grace to go on its way after inflicting such sorrow on a household like yours. It may continue to lurk about in search of more victims unless you obtain immediate treatment with one of the newer "miracle drugs" now available to the medical profession.

"Make Yourself Comfortable, Mr. Stevenson"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Senate seems headed for another opening fight on civil rights, though leaders are trying to head it off.

Americans for Democratic Action, which carries the torch and leads the parades for liberal causes, is counting on President-elect John F. Kennedy to support early action on Senate rule changes and subsequent action on new civil rights reforms, to carry out pledges in Democratic and Republican platforms.

THE FIRST STEP CALLED FOR is amending Senate Rule 22. It now provides for ending unlimited debate and filibusters against legislation opposed by minorities only by vote of two-thirds of the senators present and voting.

The new proposal is to end debate by simple majority vote of 51 senators or more. "This is the best chance the Senate has had to change Rule 22 in a long time," says ADA's vice chairman, Joseph L. Rauh.

But to carry this rule change, the liberal senators will need support from the 13 western senators who two years ago voted with Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson to table a proposal for the rule change now being proposed. They voted against the milder change then adopted and now in force.

KENNEDY COULD PROBABLY MUSTER the support of these 13 senators if he chooses to do so. Whether Johnson will use his influence for a more drastic rule change now is a leading question. There are also doubts over what Johnson's position will be if the fight is delayed till he is vice president.

Vice President Richard Nixon will still be presiding over the Senate when Congress opens. He is being counted on to make rulings favorable to amending the rule.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.), slated to become Senate majority leader to succeed Johnson, says he would prefer to delay the fight on rule change.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), slated to become assistant leader, earlier declared that such a fight would be divisive and untimely. But Humphrey is now said to be ready to sponsor rule change, as he has done in the past. And Sen. Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif.), assistant GOP leader, says he will support the drive to amend the rule.

THIS PUTS KENNEDY on something of a spot. If he doesn't use his influence in favor of the rule change at the opening of the session, it may not be changed for two years.

There is some disagreement as to where Kennedy stands. Reports that he will not interfere in a Senate rule change fight are denied by Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.), who has promised to introduce new civil rights legislation early in the session.

"Senator Kennedy has the best possible record on this," ADA's Rauh points out. "He has voted for rules changes—in 1953, 1957 and twice in 1959."

For Kennedy to retreat on this now would mean that he would be facing a licking on his program before inauguration.

But once the rule is changed, the way will be paved to introduce further civil rights legislation.

THE SECOND ADA REFORM CALLED FOR is to remove all poll tax and literacy tests as impediments to the right to vote. ADA claims that five million U. S. Negroes have been denied the right to vote by unconstitutional use of literacy tests in examining applicants for registration as voters.

THE THIRD CIVIL RIGHTS ACTION called for by ADA is establishment of a permanent FEPC—Fair Employment Practices Commission. It would replace the present Committee on Government Contracts which is limited to ending discrimination in employment on federal projects.

A permanent FEPC would be broadened to include enforcement of constitutional rights in education, housing, transportation and all employment. Kennedy recently assigned Lyndon Johnson to take over the duties of Vice President Nixon as head of the committee on government contracts, and to extend its activities.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Back in 1949 I received a nice letter from Frederick A. Gerhardt of 161 East Chester Street. He wrote that he remembered driving automobiles before there were any traffic laws. He said that back before 1910 or so you could park on any street either left or right side facing up or down.

He further explained that in those days, the auto had side lamps that burned kerosene with a Presto-Lite tank for gas for the head lights. The first license plate that he had was the size of a silver dollar. It was fastened under the drivers seat, and he had it still back in 1949.

The 1910 Pierce Arrow which he drove had a bar about four feet long that was released from under the drivers seat. Its purpose was to check the car if the brakes did not hold. He still had that bar in 1949. He drove a 1908 Cadillac which had no windshield. He had a picture of it for reference. He had all the license plates used on cars from 1910 to 1949. The first motorcycle he rode was in 1914 and he rode for many years afterwards.

Sometimes I wonder if cars have been modernized for better or for worse. I remember the old Franklin which ran without water, and those were the days when autos were not usually used in bad weather like we are having now. Sometimes it was not used at all in the winter. Now they have brakes, that if the fluid runs out you can do nothing. In our time we had two

Facing Up to Red Bluff Seen Decision for New Regime

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The Soviet government would like to have everybody in the world think that the Castro demand for a reduction in the American embassy staff in Havana, which led to the break in diplomatic relations with Cuba, is just an isolated affair between Cuba and the United States. The Moscow regime would also like to give the impression that what's happening in Laos is a spontaneous uprising of the people in protest against alleged interference in their internal affairs by the United States.

Actually, both events are the result of Communist initiative and are part of the Soviet offensive in the "cold war."

The Castro government in Cuba is advised hourly by Communist representatives just what to do to aggravate relations with the United States. The Soviet government, moreover, is engaging in a world-wide offensive designed to gain by so-called "peaceful conquest" a dominant position on every continent.

Recently Gen. C. P. Cabell, deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency, made a little-noticed speech that tells a good deal about the Soviet strategy and motives. The C. I. A. gathers information about the "cold war" which is constantly being furnished to the highest officials of the United States government.

Gen. Cabell naturally chooses his words carefully, and the conclusions he draws can be accepted as authoritative. He says: "What do the Communists leaders really want? The answer is, simply the world. Call it conquest, domination, or control, their aim, as stated by themselves and as demonstrated in their actions, is to destroy freedom in the world and to impose a Communist structure on the whole globe."

"There is the language of total war. They have a consistency and a single-mindedness about promoting a world revolution which is unique in the history of dictatorships. We have been warned before, by Hitler, of plans for world domination. We cannot ignore the present, clear Communist warning. . . . The Soviets have one great intangible resource which can best be described as gall. They are showing ever-increasing confidence and even arrogance about their growth, both in material things and in influence. . . . We in intelligence consider that the only sensible view of Communist intentions is that they seek to destroy us by any means which they can use."

How They Might Strike
"The next question is, how? Will it be by direct military attack or by long-term erosion? The answer is both. If we display weakness in our military establishment, if they believe they could strike without suffering unacceptable damage in return, then they will strike. Similarly, if we maintain soft spots in our non-military posture at home and around the world they will, as they have in the past, seek to exploit these weaknesses. . . . In their non-military arsenal they have at their disposal all the open techniques of diplomacy, trade, foreign aid and cultural missions which, when used by almost any other country, would be legitimate arms of official government business. The Communists have in addition local parties in nearly every country in the world — parties trained and directed by Moscow, as at the recent meeting, and dedicated to the overthrow of representative governments."

This is no secret . . . the Soviets have boasted that there are active Communist parties in 87 countries in the world. . . . "The Soviets have the greatest and most expensive propaganda machine the world has ever known. . . .

"Several years ago we were inclined to say that what goes on far across the Atlantic or the Pacific does not really affect us. Then we began to recognize the real intentions of the Communists. Several months ago we could still have said: 'Today Laos is in danger; tomorrow it may be somewhere else, perhaps closer to home.' Now we are forced to say: 'Today Laos and today Cuba, 90 miles from our shores.' . . .

Behind Their Curtain
"Behind their curtain of secrecy, they believe that they can make preparations for a surprise military attack. . . . In answer to the question: 'When will the Communists strike?'—the answer is they have attacked, they are attacking, and they will continue to attack."

The foregoing is an example of what our high officials are being told every day about Communist intrigue and the way the "cold war" is being fought. But do the American people realize what's happening? Judging from some of the comments made in Congress, it is questionable whether the legislators themselves are aware of the far-reaching significance of the Soviet capture of the Castro government.

It is naturally assumed that the people of the United States would disapprove of any military action to counter the Communist moves. This has been said so often that the Moscow regime believes it can go to almost any lengths and yet not meet any real resistance from the United States. Scarcely a day goes by that there aren't hints of appeasement from persons who are close to President-elect Kennedy. They talk about giving up Formosa or recognizing the Peiping regime or admitting Red China to the U. N. — all of which is grist to the Communist mill.

The real decision will have to be made soon—whether the new administration is going to face up to the Communist threat and call the Soviet bluff. Laos and Cuba are incidental to the larger aspects of the "cold war." (Reproduction Rights Reserved) sets of brakes, they would squeak for weeks to let us know that they needed a new lining. We had two wheel and four wheel brakes and when they were good, you could depend upon them.

In my time we had floor shifts and the Dodge had what they called a "back shift." There was a lot less linkage and cars on the whole were made more durable and easier to reach for the mechanic. Our radiators were exposed so that in the summer they did not overheat and they were larger than they are now. It is true our cars were top heavy, but who wanted to go more than 35 miles an hour. On a New York City trip one drove 50 miles an hour to get there and took it easy coming back. I think a human being, watching the road for 100 miles at 50 miles an hour is taking enough chances. Those who go faster are just braggards and usually end up with a big funeral.

Cars were narrower, and there were fewer vehicles on the road. Teenagers seldom were allowed to use the one and only family car. If there was a party somewhere the father would take them there perhaps another father would bring them home. Perhaps that is why some of them are alive to this day. Teenage accidents were nearly unheard of then, for the teenager did not have the money to buy his own car, nor could he run his father's car.

If one did have a car, one usually had a garage to put it in, or rented garage space. Seldom were cars parked in the streets overnight. Some people took their car out only on Sundays, to take their family out driving, so they were called Sunday drivers. I wonder how many lost their lives in auto accidents in this country since 1910. It is sad that such a pleasurable item as a car, should, on the other hand, be so destructive.

Plaudits Few for Woman Who Sensibly Says 'No'

What the American woman needs more than anything else, says J. B. Priestly, English novelist, is to learn how to say "No."

He thinks that until she learns how to say "No" to many of the demands made on her time and energy, she will just keep running around in circles, continually under pressure, always trying to do more than it is humanly possible for one person to do.

That's good advice, of course. The trouble is, there is today no recognition for the woman who knows how to say "No."

All the praise, all the attention, all the admiration go to the woman who says "Yes" to every outside-the-home demand made on her.

Mrs. Smith, who pleads that she has her hands full running her home and bringing up her family and hasn't time to head a charity drive or take on the P-TA presidency or be a den mother to a Cub Scout group isn't admired for her ability to put first things first and say "No" when she feels she must. She is looked on as a slacker for not doing her "share" of the outside work that women have come to think is more important than anything a woman does at home.

But Mrs. Jones, who has her finger in every pie, who is known in her community as a woman who never says "No" to a job is admired and respected by other women.

That is the real reason why women find it so hard to say "No." To be a "somebody" in their communities they have to be willing workers who can always be counted on to say "Yes" to outside responsibilities.

The ones who can say "No" and make it stick may be happier homemakers, better mothers, and good neighbors who have the time and energy to do a great many kind and helpful deeds. But they get few pats on the back. The applause is all for "Madam President."

When Others Fail

Suggests Legal Steps to Force Hospital Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — When persuasion and education has failed in convincing inefficient and small hospitals to consolidate, the state should have legal authority to force a merger, a leading New York State hospital planning official says.

John J. Bourke emphasized that legal tactics should be used only as a last resort. Bourke is assistant commissioner for hospital review and planning in New York State, where he said much progress is being made in area-wide hospital planning. He told the annual conference of State Hospital Construction Authority Wednesday that in New York planning was aimed at progress in quality "while we hold dear to the voluntary method" for hospital expansion.

When today's hand was played at the New York Nationals almost every South player wound up at three no-trump and West always opened the four of spades.

East would win the first trick with the king and return the suit to knock out dummy's ace.

The slap-dash declarer would promptly run off five diamond tricks and make either five or six odd depending on whether or not the defense hung on to the right cards. Incidentally, any defenders who failed to hang on to the right cards to block the slam would have to be pretty poor players.

The best declarers adopted a different line of play and attacked the diamond suit by playing low. This held them to four diamond tricks only and produced a bad score, but their play was correct.

Why was this losing play correct? Because a 4-2 break in a suit is more likely than a 3-3 break.

The low diamond play would have gained a trick for declarer if diamonds had happened to break 4-2 and since declarer was not looking at the East and West cards he was right to use the best percentage play at his disposal.

$1.4 Million Used In NY Emergency Fund Since March

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The state's emergency fund was tapped for $1,440,665 in authorized expenditures since the 1960 Legislature adjourned last March.

Expenditures were authorized by Gov. Rockefeller and the Legislature's fiscal chairman. State law provides for the emergency fund for use between legislative sessions.

The fiscal chairman, Sen. Austin W. Erwin and Assemblyman Fred W. Preller, said Wednesday that the largest amount, $786,000, was allocated for an initial payment for the Albany Country Club, which the state is taking over to build office buildings and expand the State University College of Education here.

New Hurley

NEW HURLEY — A newly elected elder and deacon were installed in the New Hurley Reformed Church last Sunday morning. They are Elder Wilson Edmonds and Deacon Edward Humphrey.

Due to the stormy weather last Sunday the communion service was postponed to Sunday, Jan. 8 at 11 a. m. Sunday school will be held at the church hall at 9:45 a. m. in charge of the newly elected Superintendent Fred Almack. There are classes for all ages.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Denniston and son Jay of Walden and Mrs. Gerow Wilkin were dinner guests at the home of their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Denniston and son Roy Jr. on New Year's Day.

Mrs. Edward Powell and Miss Bertha Sutton spent New Year's with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. James Shurtler, Marlboro.

Senate Is Facing Its Usual Fight On Filibusters

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate gets down to ordinary business today, with its usual fight over filibusters still simmering on the back burner.

The new Democratic floor leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Wednesday obtained unanimous consent for an agreement that senators can introduce bills and carry on normal routine while the debate on filibusters continues.

Democrats in the House, in recess today, seemed in no hurry to shake up their rules committee, where a conservative coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats often has bottled up bills it doesn't like.

Speaker Sam Rayburn is reported determined to put an end to the roadblock, even if it means purging Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., and replacing him on the committee with a liberal. But no showdown is in sight and a compromise may be worked out.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., former mayor of Philadelphia, said he is ready with legislation to create a new Cabinet post of housing and urban affairs.

President-elect John F. Kennedy endorsed the idea of the new department during the election campaign.

Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois Wednesday threw his weight against liberal forces that want a change in the rules to make it easier to halt a filibuster.

Dirksen said he looks on the present setup as a weapon for minorities, and noted that his party is a minority in the Senate.

Thus he joined forces with Southern Democrats who plan to fight fang and claw against any change. They often have used filibusters to defeat civil rights legislation.

Mansfield disposed of one family fight by agreeing to a compromise on filling future vacancies on the Democratic Policy and Steering committees.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., had demanded that members be elected to these committees by all Democratic senators, instead of appointed by the majority leader. Mansfield agreed to recommend appointments to be approved by the Democratic caucus.

mits at a reported cost of $39,470, two for trailers at $11,200, five for tanks at $8,492, one for a fire escape at $375, one for a poster panel at $200, and 23 for heating unit installations at $14,320. One permit was issued for relocation of a barn, with no estimated cost listed.

Plumbing Inspector Charles J. Kelly reported making 499 inspections during the year. Of these 37 were in new buildings, 224 involved alterations, and 49 resulted from complaints. He made 197 preliminary, 108 final, and 145 other type inspections.

Woman Dies of Burns, Husband Admits Fire

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (AP)—A woman died of burns today and police said her husband admitted setting her afire after giving her a sedative.

The husband, John Robert Van Arsdall Sr., 36, an unemployed seaman, was held in lieu of $25,000 bail on an assault with intent to kill charge.

His wife, Veronica Van Arsdall, 49, was brought to Paul Kimball Hospital Dec. 13 with burns on 60 per cent of her body.

The burning was first listed as an accident. Arsdall said that his wife had been burned in a kitchen mishap. Later, he told Mrs. Arsdall's daughter by a previous marriage, Constance Reinke, that her mother was burned by a cigarette while lying on a couch.

No Loss . . .

condition of the development so that it will be in the same condition as now, with the exception of normal wear, when it is turned over to the city many years from now.

Not Just for Veterans

A misunderstanding still persists among residents of the city, he noted, to the effect that one has to be a veteran to be admitted to any of the development's 98 apartments. A law covering this requirement has been changed, and admission is available to any resident of the city who meets the other requirements.

Selection of tenants, he added, "is based on a family's need, and not on a first-come, first-served basis." Applications and further information are available at the authority's office on Flatbush Avenue.

Yosman, Staff Praised

The authority complimented Yosman for his "efficient operation" of Colonial Gardens, and Haskel Jump, maintenance mechanic, and Roy Stalter, maintenance laborer, "for the fine work they have been doing, and the great amount of interest they show in the project."

Mayor Edwin F. Radel said he had mentioned the project's value to the city in his annual message, and Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye, on behalf of the Common Council commended Yosman and the others "for a job well done."

Differ on Crash Views

NEW YORK (AP)—Witnesses differ concerning actual sighting of the crash of two airliners over Staten Island the morning of Dec. 16.

The Civil Aeronautics Board Wednesday opened its hearing into the worst disaster in aviation history—when a United Airlines DC-8 jet collided with a Trans World Airlines Constellation. The crash claimed 136 lives, 128 aboard the planes and 8 on the ground.

The TWA plane went down in flames on the Army's Miller Field, Staten Island, while the jet winged 10 miles to the northeast before crashing into a Brooklyn neighborhood.

Brussels Noisy, Socialists Ready To Halt Strike

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM (AP)—Noisy demonstrations broke out in Brussels and Antwerp today but the Socialists were reported weary and ready to abandon their 17-day-old strike.

Public Administration Minister Pierre Hamel reiterated that the strike against the government's austerity program is dying, declaring: "There is a return to work everywhere."

Pay Loss Hits Hard

Leo Collard, president of the Socialist party, called on King Baudouin Wednesday night in what was believed to be a party move to try to extricate the Socialists from the costly general strike. Loss of pay has hit the strikers hard.

The Socialists also showed rising irritation with young demonstrators who have ignored repeated pleas of party leaders to avoid violence.

About 1,000 unruly demonstrators, many of them youths, tried to march on City Hall but were thrown back by police. Three hundred others tramped city streets shouting slogans and denouncing Premier Gaston Eyskens' Catholic-Conservative government.

In Antwerp, 8,000 demonstrators broke a few windows in the big port city where there is an increasing movement of ships.

Leaders Reluctant

Militant Socialist trade union leaders put pressure on the Socialist party to order a nationwide march on Brussels. Informed Socialist sources said party leaders were reluctant to go along with the idea because of lack of money and lack of enthusiasm.

The Socialist unions are demanding that Eyskens and his cabinet abandon their proposed bill to hike taxes and denounce social welfare expenditures as an aftermath to the loss of Congo revenue.

Cuban Cabinet

—joined by many American civilians—sailed aboard the ferry City of New Orleans. Banners over the dock proclaimed "the fatherland or death" and "death to the invaders," but there were only two minor incidents.

Cuban customs officials held Braddock up briefly until he got a special pass to go aboard the ferry to say goodbye. And 15 pro-Castro youths harassed a group of Cubans who had gathered outside the embassy in a desperate last-minute effort to get visas to go to the United States.

Castro, Aides Confer

Prime Minister Fidel Castro called his Cabinet into a special night session. The government-controlled press said the ministers were drafting a decree increasing the punishment for bomb terrorists.

GOP Votes Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona was reappointed chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee today with the solid backing of fellow Republican senators.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, who had questioned the advisability of renaming the outspoken conservative said he had no objection after Goldwater laid down the ground rule for the 1962 congressional campaign "with which I can go along."

Bruhn Ninth . . .

Westbrook and served for 12 years until 1897, Justice Parker, a resident of Kingston, and later of Esopus, went on to become Chief Justice of the New York State Supreme Court. He was Democratic candidate for the United States presidency in 1904, being defeated by Theodore Roosevelt.

In 1898 the late Judge A. T. Clearwater was appointed to the Supreme Court but was defeated for that office by the late Judge James A. Betts who was elected in 1898 and served for 14 years.

Judge Betts was succeeded by the late Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, who served a year as justice and later in 1912 was elected to office, serving until 1926 four years prior to his retirement.

One of Ulster County's most distinguished jurists, the late John T. Loughran served from 1931 to 1935 as a justice of the Supreme Court and then was elected chief judge of the Court of Appeals.

Justice Harry E. Schirich succeeded Judge Loughran to become the seventh Ulster County resident to grace the Supreme Court bench in the third district. Re-elected to office, Justice Schirich was required to retire in December, having reached 70, the retirement age. However, he will continue to serve in a judicial capacity as the official referee still giving to the bench his great ability as a jurist.

Justice Elsworth, who was re-elected in 1958 to a second term, is the eighth local resident to serve on the Supreme Court. In his remarks he congratulated Justice Bruhn on his appointment, remarking that he was the ninth local resident since the Civil War to hold that position.

Ambition of Every Lawyer

Justice Elsworth said it was one of the great ambitions of every lawyer to some time sit upon the Supreme Court bench and he continued that because of the limited opportunity to serve many very able men had been unable to attain that goal. In concluding he said that while many able men had aspired to become a Supreme Court justice, and since there had been but nine in the past 100 years "there must have been many disappointed lawyers during the last century."

Justice Bruhn spoke briefly, noting the honor which had been bestowed upon him. He said he would endeavor to live up to the high tradition which had been set by those who preceded him. His appointment is until next December. He is required to run for election in November for the 14-year post.

No appointment has been made to fill the vacancy on the County Court bench. Meanwhile, under the law, Surrogate Judge Francis X. Tucker serves as county judge in addition to his duties as surrogate.

Rumors continue to exist as to a successor to Justice Bruhn. Among those mentioned is Louis T. Francello, of Saugerties, who has served as village attorney for nine years, acting police justice for five years, town attorney and as a revision clerk in the N. Y. State Senate since 1948. Also mentioned is Louis DiDonna, Town of Ulster attorney and a former assistant attorney general.

The name of Hugh R. Elwyn, president of the Ulster County Bar Association, is also being advanced along with several others, including District Attorney Raymond J. Mino, former city judge in Kingston.

Should District Attorney Mino be appointed county judge, there would be need for appointment to fill his position. Elevation of one of the present assistant district attorneys to the office might result, although there are several local attorneys whose names are mentioned.

County Attorney Arthur A. Davis Jr., is one and the name of David Corwin of New Paltz is also being mentioned. Corwin is a prominent New Paltz attorney. If Davis were appointed his county attorney job would be filled by an appointment from the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

Rhinebeck Man Accused After Highway Crash

A 62-year-old Rhinebeck man was charged with reckless driving after his car was involved in a collision on Route 308, Town of Rhinebeck, at 5:30 p. m. Wednesday, and today he pleaded guilty and was fined $15.

Justice of the Peace Clarence Traver, Town of Rhinebeck, dismissed two other charges lodged against Raymond Connolly of Milan Hollow Road by Trooper Joseph Fermaute.

State Police Corporal John McCarthy said Connolly was traveling east on Route 308 when his car was in a sideswipe collision with a car owned and operated by Carl Curry, 56, of Turnpike Road, Rhinebeck.

Troopers said Connolly's car continued on until overtaken by Leonard Borriello of Rhinebeck.

Helmet Is Lost As Wiltwycks Go To Wednesday Fire

Someone made off with a fireman's helmet which blew off as a Wiltwyck unit answered an alarm for a Roosevelt Avenue blaze Wednesday, and Fire Chief James M. Brett today advised that it should be returned.

It blew from Fireman Hugh Greer's head near St. John's Church, Albany Avenue. Someone got from a car in the area, picked it up, drove away with it and has not been heard from since.

The alarm at 4:30 p. m., sounded at Box 5631, Roosevelt Avenue and Savoy Street, was for a slight fire in the house of Saul Schechter, 88 Roosevelt Avenue. Grease in a deep fry unit ignited, set fire to curtains and damaged venetian blinds. The blaze was out on arrival of firemen.

Chief Brett indicated that enough information has been obtained to lead ultimately to identification of the person who has the helmet, and he advised that it be returned without need for inconvenience or arrest.

Woman's Life Spared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The life of Edythe Klump, 42, condemned to die Friday for the slaying of her lover's wife, has been spared.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle announced Wednesday night that "justice could not be served by her execution," and commuted the Cincinnati woman's sentence to life imprisonment.

Mrs. Klump was convicted of first-degree murder for shooting Louise Bergen to death and then burning her body. The slaying took place in Cincinnati Oct. 30, 1958. The burned body was found on the shore of Lake Cowan in Clinton County.

Bob to Drop Politics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the president-elect, said today he will detach himself from politics when he takes his oath this month as the new attorney general.

"I am in the midst now of detaching myself from the political arena," Kennedy told a reporter. He added that it's not a simple task.

Since 1952 Kennedy has managed the political campaigns that carried his brother, John F. Kennedy, first into the Senate and then into the presidency.

Benson Steps Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today accepted the resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, effective Jan. 20, and thanked him "for the many contributions you have made to the nation, and especially to its rural population."

The submitting his resignation, Benson told Eisenhower, "The groundwork has been laid for the kind of prosperous, expanding and free agriculture that is so basic to a strong, virile, secure America."

More Lawyers as Solons

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Lawyers outnumber their combined brethren in the 1961 Legislature by almost two to one.

The lawyers number 134 among the 34 occupations represented.

In addition to lawyers, there are: A dentist, nine farmers, 12 real estate and insurance men, three funeral directors, three career public servants, five public relations men, a printer and an advertising man.

Services were largely attended and there were many beautiful floral tributes. Burial will be at the convenience of the family.

Kennedy to Hold More Parleys on US Farm Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kennedy administration plans to hold a broad series of conferences with farm leaders on the pressing agricultural problem.

Pierre Salinger, press secretary for President-elect John F. Kennedy, told a news conference today that a meeting of farm leaders and congressmen today on the farm issue was only the first of a series.

This indicated today's meeting in itself would bring no decision on what steps Kennedy might take to improve farm prices and income.

Salinger announced also that Kennedy will hold a conference today on the state of the national economy.

Attending will be Dr. Walter Heller of St. Paul, designated by Kennedy to be chairman of his Council of Economic Advisers; Theodore C. Sorenson, named special counsel for the White House; and Dr. Paul Samuelson, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Samuelson will present a report he has prepared relating to economic conditions.

Mrs. Eulalia D. Hooke
Mrs. Eulalia D. Hooke, 93, of Lake Hill, died Wednesday at Benedictine Hospital. The daughter of Egbert and Helen Wilbur Howland, she was born in Lake Hill and for many years operated a general store and was postmaster for that area. Her husband, Edward W. Hooke died in 1925. Surviving are a son, Earl M. Watson of Lake Hill; a granddaughter, Mrs. Ralph Sottile of Kingston; a sister, Mrs. Julius Simpson of Gibbstown, Fla.; a brother, Van L. Howland of Lake Hill and two great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Saturday 2 p. m. at the Lasher Funeral Home Inc., Woodstock. The Rev. Clarence Murray, pastor of the Willow Wesleyan Methodist Church will officiate. Burial will be in the spring at the Wesleyan Methodist Cemetery, Willow. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday afternoon and evening.

John McCusker

John McCusker, 77, of Plutarch Road, Highland, died January 3 in Kingston Hospital after a brief illness. He was born in Bayonne, N. J., a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCusker. He was a post office clerk in New Jersey for 45 years, retiring 10 years ago. He formerly resided in Union City, N. J., but had lived in Highland the last five years. He is survived by his wife, the former Ernestine Treanor; a brother, Joseph McCusker of Bayonne, N. J.; a sister, Miss Mary McCusker of Washington, D. C. Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a. m. at St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz. Burial will be in George Washington Memorial Park Cemetery, Paramus, N. J. Friends may call at the Pine Funeral Home Inc., New Paltz, this evening.

Edward J. Ross

The funeral of Edward J. Ross who died Sunday at Albany, was held Wednesday 9 a. m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, 176 Broadway, thence to St. Mary's Church where at 9:30 a. m. a high Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. Seated in the sanctuary was the Rev. Francis X. Toner. Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir under the direction of Theodore Riccobono, choirmaster-organist.

At the conclusion of the Mass the choir sang The Star Spangled Banner in honor of the World War I veteran. During the bereavement many friends called at the funeral home. Among those who called was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, P.A. Also paying their respects were groups of officials and employees of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, from which Mr. Ross retired after 40 years of service. Tuesday night Father Farrelly called and led St. Mary's Holy Name Society in the recitation of the Rosary for their late member. Many floral and spiritual bouquets were received. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father Toner gave the final absolution and blessing. Bearers were Francis Buchanan, Richard Scherer, John Turck and Joseph Kivlan.

Dutchess Group Objects to Bill

Members of the Ralph T. Waterman Bird Club of Dutchess County oppose a State Senate bill, which proposes to lease portions of the Catskill Forest preserve to private interests, according to Raymond Connelly, publicity chairman.

Connelly said Bill 233 was discussed at Tuesday night's meeting of the club and members were unanimous in their wishes to keep the preserve free of commercial enterprise. Connelly said he understood one firm is requesting permission to operate ski slopes on Hunter Mountain.

The bill passed the Legislature in 1960, but must again pass before submission to the voters of New York State.

Panama Recalls Havana Envoy; Break Possible

PANAMA (AP) — Sentiment was rising today for a break in diplomatic relations with Cuba as Panama called home her ambassador in Havana.

Official sources said Ambassador Alberto Obarrío was returning for consultations but refused further comment.

Cuban exiles charged in a statement that Castro sympathizers were planning acts of terrorism and street disorders that could lead to armed insurrection in some provinces in the interior.

Cancer Institute Set for Syracuse

All upstate roads will lead to Syracuse in mid-January for County Unit leaders of the New York State Division of the American Cancer Society. The 13th annual cancer institute will be held Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 15, 16 and 17 at the Hotel Syracuse.

The 3-day conference is designed to serve as a seminar for all key workers in the organization. New projects and new methods will be presented for practical application in the fields of education and service. A fresh pattern for leadership and dedication will be outlined by masters in these spheres. On the medical agenda the program will include a report on the latest findings in cancer research.

The cancer institute will be under the direction of Mrs. Laurence Marble, New York State Director of Volunteer Service and Education and Alan Stevenson, executive director of the New York State Division. Spokesman for the national organization will be Eugene Peterson, field representative.

Featured on the program will be Dr. Morton L. Levin, of Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo; Dr. Kenneth Kindelsperger of Syracuse University; Daniel Burdick of Upstate Medical Center Tumor Clinic in Syracuse and Charles C. Noble, dean of Hendricks Chapel, Syracuse University. It is estimated that upwards of 200 delegates will attend this meeting.

Rosendale Vols Elect Officers

At a meeting of the Rosendale Hose Company No. 1 on Tuesday, Jan. 3, the following were elected to serve as officers for 1961:

Karl Stroble, president; Anthony Erceg, vice president; Joseph LaFara, secretary; George Fisher, treasurer.

Elected Fire Chief was Robert Markle with Arthur Mulligan as assistant. Erick Reick was elected first captain; Eugene Mulligan, second captain; Arnold Crookston, first lieutenant; Joseph Mastro, second lieutenant; William Eilenman, trustee for three years; Joseph Reid, trustee for one year; Morris Croonston, fire police chief.

Serving as chaplains will be the Rev. Robert Grupe, Reformed Church of Rosendale, and the Rev. John Curry, assistant, St. Peter's Church, Rosendale.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel labor and management sit down today to tackle a problem that plagues not only the industry but also federal and local authorities and business in general.

In human terms it's the problem of joblessness and short weeks that affect the families of thousands both in and out of the mills.

In terms of dollars it's the problem of slipping sales and profits of the companies, of their suppliers, of those who sell to or serve the steel workers.

Steel Tinges Outlook

In the field of governments it's the problem of jobless and other social benefits, and lower tax receipts.

In the broader scene the troubles in steel tinge the outlook of the whole economy, since so much depends on the health of this basic industry.

The expectation at the start of 1961 is for slowly rising steel output, but whether this will bring immediate re-employment isn't certain.

The expected slow rise in steel output as 1961 continues—much of the increase doubtless in the latter part of the year—will still leave the profit picture in doubt. Wage scales have risen recently, squeezing profit margins further and offsetting at least in part the rise in productivity.

Two Other Factors

And the steel industry is still up against growing competition from other materials in several of its best markets, as well as the successful hunt of many steel users for ways to cut down on the amount of steel needed in their activities.

The immediate problems that steel management and labor are discussing today rise also from two other things. First is the slowdown in activity in many of steel's prime customers — appliances, railroads, and to some extent in construction. Also, the big customer, the auto industry, uses less steel in its compact cars, along with greater use of glass and aluminum.

Second is the tendency of customers to live off their steel stocks through most of the last half of 1960. Inventories had been built up in a big spurge of steel buying early in the year, and then as often as not users found demand for their products slumping.

As yet steel customers show little tendency to rebuild stocks. But most steel executives say that soon more users will have to stop living off inventories and at least order on a hand-to-mouth basis as many now do.

Highest Since 1957

Union and company representatives meet today as the industry starts an expected climb back from a holiday week slump that saw output at its lowest for any nonstrike period in more than 20 years.

Thanks to the spurt in the opening months, the year as a whole wasn't bad for the industry. It turned out 99.3 million tons, the highest production since 112.7 million tons in 1957.

But the slowdown since midyear has taken its toll both on profits and jobs. And if the confab in Washington can figure out ways to beat competition, increase sales, hold down costs, make more jobs and fatten steelworkers' incomes, the whole economy would be pleased, if slightly surprised.

Most Papers Will Omit Jack From Their Headlines

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What name do American newspaper editors prefer when they refer to President-elect John F. Kennedy in headlines? Kennedy, Jack or JFK?

The majority of papers, apparently, are going along with his wishes—Kennedy or JFK.

Only a few of the 100 newspapers polled by The Associated Press indicated they will continue to use "Jack."

Choice Up to Papers

The subject came up when a reporter asked what name Kennedy himself prefers.

Answered his press secretary, Pierre Salinger: "He feels that if he had a choice he would prefer just Kennedy, or that the initials JFK are all right, too. If he had a choice he would be against the use of Jack."

"But he also feels that the choice is up to the newspapers." Long names have long been the bane of the hard-pressed headline writer who must fit them into skimpy column space. Hence, such names as Eisenhower and Roosevelt became Ike and FDR.

Of the newspapers queried by AP, 46 said they would use Kennedy or JFK in headlines. Thirty-six said they would use President or Kennedy only. Some said they would continue to use Jack while others said they would use Jack only if the story warranted it or it fitted in designated space. One paper said it would use John F. and another John.

"Jack is taboo," said the Fort Lauderdale, (Fla.) News.

Impolite, Says One

"No Jack, no John, No JFK," said the Philadelphia Inquirer, which prefers Kennedy.

"Impolite," said the Indianapolis News.

But there were pro-Jack papers, too.

Tulsa Tribune — Ike was good enough for Eisenhower and Jack should be satisfactory.

Waterloo (Iowa) Courier — See no reason for Eisenhower can be like, why Kennedy can't be Jack.

Birmingham (Ala.) News — Probably will use Jack some. Anyway, his preference won't make any difference.

Los Angeles Examiner — We've been using Jack right along. Doubt if we can get away from it. The thing is an affectionate term. Ike has certainly retained his dignity.

Says JFK Looks Like Error

South Bay Daily Breeze (Redondo Beach, Calif.) — We'd rather call him Jack if we can call Nixon Dick. JFK sounds odd-ball; looks like a typographical error.

The Washington Star says it won't use Jack or JFK. The Washington Post believes Jack is too frivolous, but in a tight squeeze might have to use JFK.

The New York Times, the New York Herald Tribune and the World-Telegram & Sun say they refer to the president-elect as Kennedy. The Times said it never uses nicknames.

ILA Boycotts Cargoes

NEW YORK (AP)—Dock workers here have begun a boycott of cargoes arriving from or destined for Cuba.

William V. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, said the boycott was the result of a spontaneous decision by the men to refuse to handle commercial cargoes for "Communist countries."

The first ship hit by the boycott was the German-flag freighter Luciana, which arrived here from Havana. The ILA refused to unload a shipment of about 200 tons of tobacco, pineapples and watermelons.

Financial Transactions

(Morgan Davis & Co.)

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rally continued early this afternoon in lively trading despite some profit taking.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .70 at 223.50 with the industrials up .60, rails up .60 and utilities up .40.

Gains of fractions to about a point predominated in the list of key stocks. A scattering of issues eased as profits were taken on yesterday's large advance.

The rise was having difficulty extending itself. The major steels were still moving forward although at a far lesser rate than yesterday. Autos, after an initial rise, turned mixed.

The balance was to the upside among rails, nonferrous metals, airlines, chemicals and utilities. Oils and tobacco turned irregular.

Brokers cited the same reasons as they did yesterday for the rally: anticipation of an eventual economic upturn led by the steel industry and expectations of increased defense spending, underlined by the present international difficulties.

Vandiver Withdraws

ATLANTA (AP)—Gov. Ernest Vandiver today asked President-elect John F. Kennedy not to consider him for secretary of the Army.

Vandiver withdrew his name from any further consideration for the post.

Vandiver's statement that he plans to serve out the remaining two years of his term ended speculation on whether he might be named to the federal post and turn the state government over to Lt. Gov. Garland T. Byrd.

He'd Sign . . .

and avoiding a public battle with unions.

Earlier Wednesday, Rockefeller read his legislative message to the silent and often restless members of the Senate and Assembly, who met in joint session.

Gets Polite Applause

The governor was greeted with polite applause as he appeared in the chamber and at the end of his message but there was no sign of exceptional enthusiasm.

The Rockefeller program includes higher state spending for highways and other public works and higher-education facilities. He has given no specifics, however.

In the usual partisan reaction to such messages, Republicans hailed the Rockefeller program as a significant plan that would benefit the residents of the state.

Democrats attacked it as a hollow recital devoid of proposals for concrete action.

Concerned Over Costs

One lawmaker, Assemblyman J. Eugene Goddard, Rochester Republican, expressed concern over the eventual cost of the various Rockefeller proposals.

Goddard was a leader in the 1959 budget revolt, in which several lawmakers refused to support the governor's fiscal policies until tax and spending increases were modified.

Senate Majority Leader Walter A. Mahoney said the Senate would begin work immediately on the tax-rebate plan. Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino also promised prompt action.

Democrats contend that the Rockefeller tax-rebate proposal would benefit persons in the highest income brackets five times more than those in the lower income brackets.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, regarded as a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination next year, said he found the overall Rockefeller program disappointing.

A number of requests for a conversational Italian class have been received. Anyone interested should register as indicated above. Classes in other subjects may be started providing there is sufficient demand and a competent instructor is available.

Registration at the Chambers School for the Art class under the Rev. Albert Shultis will be held on Monday, Jan. 16 at 7 p. m.

Anyone wishing any further information relative to the adult education program is invited to call Hubert Hoderath. The adult education bulletin may be had upon request.

May Inspect Minutes

CANTON, N. Y. (AP)—A state supreme court justice today granted an attorney for Robert DeLair the right to inspect minutes of the grand jury that indicted DeLair on a charge of first-degree murder.

DeLair, 21, is accused of raping and strangling 18-year-old Beverly Trombley last August at Star Lake. After a mental test, he was declared capable of standing trial.

changes, smuggling prevention and the like.

No serious hitches had been reported in the pullout of American officials from Cuba and the expulsion of Cuban diplomats from this country. U.S. officials estimated that more than 300 Cubans in this country were listed as Cuban government officials.

There was no optimism that relations with Cuba would be resumed soon. American authorities felt Castro has become so enmeshed in the Communist web that he cannot turn back, even if he wants to.

The diplomatic break brought an end to normal visa facilities for persons traveling from one country to the other. In order to get a U.S. visa now, a Cuban must go to a third country and apply at a U.S. consulate.

State Department officials indicated, however, that the United States would follow a tolerant interpretation of the refugee law toward Cubans who manage to get to this country and ask asylum.

At a meeting of the Organization of American States in Washington Wednesday the Cuban representative said the break was "one more proof" that the United States plans to invade Cuba before Jan. 18, an accusation the United States has called baseless and ridiculous.

The Cuban, Quintin Pino, said "If U.S. Marines land on our beaches they will suffer more casualties than Okinawa and Iwo Jima combined."

MIP An Excellent Plan For Low Income Earner

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q: "I am saving $5 a week to pay for my college education. Is this too small an amount to invest through the Monthly Investment Plan sponsored by members of the New York Stock Exchange? Is this a good idea?"

L. R.

A: I think this is an excellent idea. The minimum payment required under such a program is $40, either monthly or quarterly, so you could invest your savings every three months in one or more common stocks.

This is a practical way for you to save for your important objective. The M.I.P. not only provides a systematic method of saving but also allows you to buy an interest in a company without a large initial sum of money and at a fair average price over a period of time.

As stated many times in this column, common stocks—good growth stocks—offer a strong measure of protection against continued decline in the purchasing power of the dollar. And with the skyrocketing costs of a college education, I believe you will need this protection. There are many good growth stocks available today but for your purposes I recommend Corning Glass (NYSE) and Bell & Howell (NYSE). Both stocks are in expanding industries and are rich in research.

Q: "Many good stocks such as banks and insurance companies are sold over-the-counter. Is there any difficulty selling good stocks such as the above?"

L. P.

A: Over-the-counter refers to a vast network of security dealers who maintain markets for stocks not listed on the regular exchanges. You should have no trouble selling at a fair price any over-the-counter stock which is fairly widely held by the public. However, some small, local financial companies with only a few shares outstanding may have a very limited market. You

Industry, Steel Union Leaders Discuss Problem

WASHINGTON (AP)—Management and union leaders of the vital steel industry hold an unusual huddle today to seek some way of getting their idle mills back into full production.

Sagging steel output, which has paced the nation's economy downward, reached a 22-year low for a non-strike period last week when the industry operated at only 38.6 per cent of capacity. However, production always is low in a holiday week.

The industry accepted a bid made last Sunday by President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers Union to try to reverse the lessening demand for steel and the resulting widespread unemployment among steelworkers.

16 Educators Will Evaluate Secondary Education at OCS

A group of 16 educators appointed by the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges will visit Ontario Central School for three days next week to evaluate the quality of its secondary educational program.

The visitation will take place on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 9-10-11. Included on the committee are principals, college and secondary teachers from accredited colleges and secondary schools.

Describing the visit as "an event of great importance to the Ontario Central school system," Paul T. Runge, director of secondary education at OCS, said that Ontario is the first school in Ulster county to be tested for accreditation. A few Hudson valley area schools have been tested and between 50 and 60 in the entire state.

The Middle States Association is the highest accrediting agency in this section of the United States, Runge said. For colleges, it is a "must" to be approved by Middle States in order to have credits and courses taken by its students recognized at other colleges. Accreditation means survival to most institutions of higher learning.

The Ontario Board of Education has been invited to hear the preliminary report of the visiting chairman at the conclusion of the evaluation on Wednesday, Jan. 11, at 3:45 p. m. in the high school library. This report will be presented to the entire secondary faculty. A final report will be submitted to the school and Runge some time later.

Verdict in November

Possible approval for OCS accreditation will not be known until November after all the data

'Teacher or Tempter' Sunday Sermon Topic At Overlook Methodist

The Rev. James W. Cook will preach on the topic "Teacher or Tempter" Sunday, Jan. 8, in the Overlook Methodist Church. Sunday school begins at 9:45 a. m., with classes for all from kindergarten to adults. Worship service is at 11 a. m. A nursery is provided during the worship hour.

The fourth Quarterly Conference will be held Friday, Jan. 6, in the church hall beginning at 7:30 p. m. Reports from officers and commission chairman will be heard at that time. Goals for 1961 will also be presented. The Rev. George Werner of Kingston, N. Y., will be the guest speaker.

Claude, Marianna Montoux, Caron Ramung at Festival

The Woodstock Winter Festival presents Claude Montoux, flutist; Caron Ramung, soprano; and Marianna Montoux, harpsichord and flute, in a performance Sunday, Jan. 28 at 3 p. m. in the Woodstock Guild Gallery.

Montoux has played brilliantly as a soloist with the New York Philharmonic and the NBC Symphony. He has made recordings with all the major companies and at present is musical director of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society.

Marianna Montoux and her husband, Claude, have entertained many children in concerts performed just for them. Mrs. Montoux is a graduate of Oberlin College.

Caron Ramung, a former Curtis student, has appeared in this area with Joseph Isadore and Montoux in programs of early music. She has performed with many folk groups including several appearances at the New York Historical Society.

The program will feature such music as "Ewig Quelle" the District Superintendent, will preside at the meeting. A coffee hour will be held following the meeting. Every church member is invited to attend this meeting.

The Rev. and Mrs. George Werner will have an "open house" this Sunday afternoon, from 3 to 5 p. m. at the district parsonage at 220 Albany Avenue in Kingston. Every Methodist family of the Kingston District is invited to attend.

Lutheran Teachers Will Meet on Monday; Congregation, Jan. 12

Mrs. Donald Zimmerman, superintendent of the Christ Lutheran Sunday school, has announced that the monthly teachers meeting will be held on Monday, Jan. 9, at 8 p. m.

The new officers will be elected at this meeting and there will be a discussion of the newly proposed Sunday School Constitution.

Meeting Dates

The United Lutheran Church Women will meet on Thursday, Jan. 12, at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Benson of Woodstock. It was 72 years ago on that date that this organization held its meeting. All the women of the church are invited to attend.

The Church Council of Christ's Church has called a special congregational meeting for Monday, Jan. 16, at 7:30 p. m. The 1961 budget which has been adopted by the Council will come before stration Unit will meet at the Methodist Church hall on Tuesday, Jan. 10, at 1:30 p. m.

Mrs. William McNamee, the Unit sponsor, will tell about her experience. Surprise bags will be the entertainment—large paper bag with a new usable article.

Hostesses for the day will be Mary Busch, Florence Pallister, Dorothy Cauer and Elora Martin.

Newburgh Prisoner Faces New Charges

A criminal case pending in Dutchess County court against Garnell Malone, 32, of Newburgh, has been ordered removed from the trial calendar because the defendant is in the Orange County jail on another charge.

told John Heilman, assistant district attorney to file a warrant against Malone in Orange County and not to place the case back on the local calendar until the warrant is executed.

Malone was indicted by a grand jury on Nov. 17 on charges of breaking into Happy Jack's tavern, 107 North Bridge Street, Poughkeepsie, and possessing buglar tools.

Blade Removed
CHIPLEY, Fla. (AP) — James Gerald Worthington, 6, apparently swallowed a razor blade two years ago. It went undetected until he went to a hospital last week for treatment of pneumonia. Dr. Walter H. Shehee discovered the blade lodged in the side of the windpipe. It was removed by surgery Friday and Dr. Shehee says the boy is recovering satisfactorily.

Has Plan Ready For Housing Job In JFK Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said today he has ready legislation to set up a new cabinet department of housing and urban affairs.

Clark told a reporter he only was awaiting word from the incoming Kennedy administration as to what method it preferred to follow in creating such a department. President-elect John F. Kennedy has endorsed the idea.

Either of two methods could be used—introduction of a bill followed by its enactment through the regular legislative process or submission of a presidential reorganization plan.

The newest cabinet department, Health, Education and Welfare, was established in 1953 through a reorganization plan sent up by President Eisenhower shortly after he took office.

However, a Democratic-controlled Congress later let these reorganization powers lapse. Thus a new reorganization law would have to be passed before President John F. Kennedy could submit a plan to set up another cabinet department.

It is understood Eisenhower plans to recommend before he leaves office that the reorganization law be revived.

Under this law, a presidential plan takes effect within 60 days, or some other stated period, unless killed by a vote of one of the branches of Congress.

Dutchess GOP Proposes Close For School Post

Appointment of C. Fred Close, who retired Saturday as Dutchess County sheriff, to the board of visitors of the Highland State Training School for Boys, has been recommended to Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller by the Dutchess Republican organization.

The Highland school accepts boys 12 years and younger, who have been determined to be juvenile delinquents from New York City and 11 southeastern counties. The school was first organized as an annex to the Otisville State School for Boys.

The State Social Welfare Department, which operates the Highland school, last fall decided that it should have its own board of visitors. Some county Republican chairmen later were asked for their recommendations for appointment and Close's name was submitted.

Members of the board will receive no salary, but will be compensated for expenses in conjunction with board business.

Among the 11 counties served by the Highland School are Ulster, Greene, Columbia, Dutchess, Putnam and Orange.

Wisconsin Solons Favor Free Flow Of Milk in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wisconsin's two new House members, both Republicans, said today they are joining with other dairy state members in seeking passage of legislation that would permit the free flow of milk in interstate commerce.

They are Rep. Henry C. Shadoberg, a Congressional minister, who labels himself a conservative, and Rep. Vernon W. Thomson, governor of Wisconsin in 1957 and 1958.

Eleven bills were introduced in the House Tuesday, the opening day of the 87th Congress, by members from Wisconsin and Minnesota. They would outlaw state and local regulations that bar free movement of milk.

Rep. Lester R. Johnson, D-Wis., one of the leaders in the move, said prospects of success this year appear better than during the past few years.

And All Because Of Milady's Hat

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Frank Hill, 69, of Chester, Pa., stopped his auto Wednesday, left the engine running, and opened the door. His mother-in-law, Nettie J. Saxon, 85, was in the car.

A sudden draft of wind whipped off Mrs. Saxon's hat. Hill started chasing the hat. Mrs. Saxon slid across the seat to follow him. Her foot accidentally hit the accelerator.

The car shot forward, jumped the curb, raked along the fronts of buildings and drove a pedestrian through a plate glass window. After traveling more than 150 feet the car came to a halt partly inside the front of the Judaeo-Christian Information Center of the United Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A.

Mrs. Saxon was unhurt but frightened. She told police she doesn't know how to drive. The pedestrian, Frank H. Curtis, 66, was treated at a hospital for scalp and hand cuts, then released.

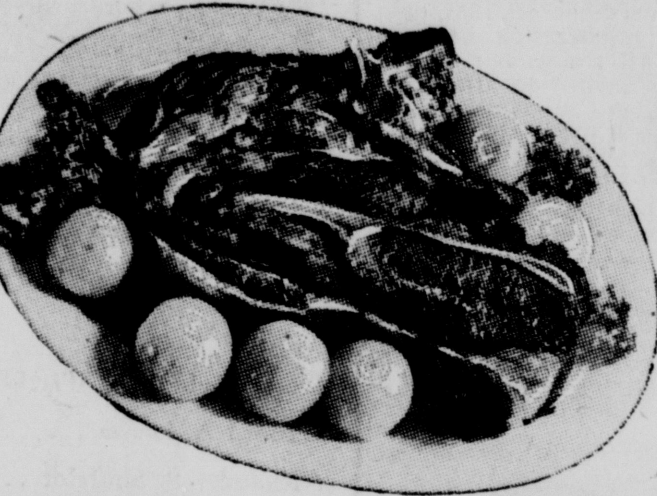

Former Hotelman Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A former president of the New York State Hotel Association died here Wednesday after a lengthy illness. He was Theodore Krueger, 70. Krueger managed the Statler-Hilton hotels here until his retirement in 1956.

COMMENTS ON BREAK WITH CUBA — Adlai Stevenson, President-elect Kennedy's choice to be U. S. Ambassador to United Nations, comments in Washington Jan. 3 on the U. S. action breaking off diplomatic relations with Cuba. Stevenson said he regrets "the deterioration of relations that has resulted in this decision being forced by the Cubans." He was questioned as he attended a reception in Washington for new members of Congress. (AP Wirephoto)

AMERICAN EXODUS BEGINS—Two U. S. Embassy officers carry baggage into the basement entrance to the embassy building in Havana, Jan. 4, in preparation to depart from Cuba as the result of rupture of U. S. announced Jan. 3 its decision to sever diplomatic ties with the government of Fidel Castro. (AP Wirephoto)

Mental Exams Are Ordered for 215 at State Institution

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Mental examinations will be sought for 215 inmates who had been committed to a state institution without proper legal notice, the state attorney general says.

The State Supreme Court will be asked to order the test for the 215 inmates now at Dannemora State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, Louis J. Lefkowitz said Wednesday.

The attorney general said that if any of the men were to be found insane, the court would be asked to direct that they be kept at the hospital.

The action stems from an official check of the records last month when 215 of the 1,935 inmates had been found to be committed without proper legal notice. All have been there since previous to 1945.

Correction Commissioner Paul D. McGinnis and the hospital's director, Dr. W. Cecil Johnston, have said that no dangerous men would be turned loose.

DONALD DUCK By WALT DISNEY SIDE GLANCES By GALBRAITH CARNIVAL By DICK TURNER

OFFICE CAT

By Junius Trade Mark Reg. Friend—You have my sympathy, old man. Man—Why? Friend—My wife got a new hat, and she's calling on your wife tomorrow.

Two men were taking a short cut across the meadows when a bull in the field suddenly caught sight of one of the men's crimson shirt. He snorted loudly, pawed the ground ominously and prepared to charge. While he had been getting up steam the men sensing the urgency of the situation, had run for cover. One of them climbed a tree and sat securely in the upper branches. The other was not suited for climbing so he was forced to seek refuge in a sort of fox-hole in the field. Unfortunately for the latter it was he who was wearing the red shirt. The bull could see a part of the shirt sticking out of the ground and made an earth-trembling rush for it. The man ducked and the bull roared harmlessly overhead. The man popped up and the bull who had stopped and turned charged again. Six times the man ducked and bobbed up and six times the bull charged. The man in the tree finally grew exasperated with his friend in the hole and shouted, 'Stay down in the hole, you fool, until the bull goes away. It's all right for you to talk, the red shirt called back, you don't have a porcupine up in that tree with you. This is not a question and answer column, but we don't mind replying to an easy one like this: What is love? Love is a noun, and sometimes a verb. Don't take our word, see the dictionary, where we got it. Friends are people who watch you blunder into ruin without warning because they're afraid to offend you. This letter exemplifies the power of the press. Dear Editor: Thursday I lost a gold watch which I valued very highly. Immediately I inserted an ad in your lost-and-found column and waited. Yesterday I went home and found the watch in the pocket of another suit. God bless your paper. The man who says a thing isn't worth a row of beans is never the fellow who raised them. Two seamen had been adrift in an open boat for almost a week. One, feeling that all was lost, knelt in the bottom of the boat and began to pray: Seaman—Oh, Lord, I know I've been a sinner. I know I've taken of alcoholic beverages to excess and I know that I should not have beaten my wife, but if You let me get out of this alive I promise— Companion—Hold it. Don't go makin' rash promises because I think I see land. Every man is like the company he is wont to keep.—Euripides.

Rotarians Lose
To Phoenicia Club

The results of the inter-club attendance contest between the Saugerties Rotarians and the Phoenicia Rotary Club was announced at the Tuesday night meeting of the local club at the Stonehill Hotel. It was disheartening news to all members present that they lost by a 44 per cent to their fellow Rotarians in Phoenicia and will have to host them at a dinner in the near future to satisfy the loss.

Guests of the Saugerties Club Tuesday were Roland Green of Kingston and Adolph Heckerroth and Jack Citroen of Woodstock. Mr. and Mrs. William Pritchard of Hilton Place were accepted into membership of the First Congregational Church Sunday by the Rev. Frederick J. Imhoff, minister, as transfers from the Presbyterian Church of Bangor, Pa.

Meeting Notices

United Lutheran Women of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp, will meet on Tuesday, Jan. 10, 1:30 p. m. at the parish hall. Mrs. Herman K. Knaust will be the topic leader.

Cementon Sportsmen's Association will meet Tuesday, Jan. 17, 8 p. m. at St. Mary's Church Hall, Cementon. Election of officers and discussion of the new clubhouse will take place.

There will be a special meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5034, and its auxiliary Sunday, 4 p. m. at the VFW Hall Livingstone Street, to formulate plans for the 1961 Loyalty Day parade and program. Post Commander Frank Dunn requests all members who are interested and expect to participate to attend as important details will be discussed.

Lutheran Church Notes

The Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor of the Evangelical Church of the Atonement, Market Street, has released the following church schedule for the coming week.

Global Outreach will be stressed at Atonement Lutheran Church in Saugerties, during January, together with United Lutheran Churches across the country. This Sunday pupils of the Sunday school and those in attendance at church will receive an illustrated folder describing the work being carried on by the United Lutheran Church in foreign lands.

In keeping with the theme Into All the World Together designated for study by the churches of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, Facts on Lutheran Co-operation Overseas will be distributed to Sunday school pupils and those attending church Jan. 15.

Tuesday, 4 p. m. confirmation classes will meet followed by choir rehearsal for the group; 8 p. m. church council will hold its monthly meeting. Names will be presented for approval and nomination for the church council to be voted on at the annual meeting, Sunday Jan. 15.

Wednesday the church choir will rehearse at 6:45 p. m. in the Sunday school. At 7 p. m. the chapel choir will rehearse and at 8 p. m. the senior choir.

The Lutheran Women will hold an organizational meeting Thursday, Jan. 12 at 8 p. m. at the church. The group will be formed from three formerly separate organizations. The Ladies Aid, the ULCA Mission Circle and the Amicitia.

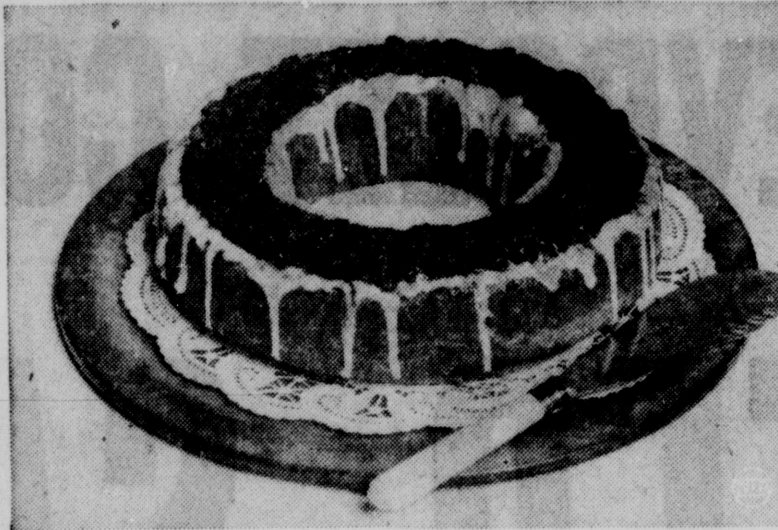

The group will be open to all women members of the church. They will have regular monthly church related programs, which shall include a study of the program of the church at large and programs of service for the local congregation. A percentage of the monthly free-will offerings will be dedicated to the home, foreign, and social missions of the church at large and a percentage used for the work of the local congregation. The group will continue the quarterly thank-offering of the former United Lutheran Church Women.

Lutheran Women will be the official publication of the church used by the group. The Lutheran Women of Atonement will be affiliated with parent groups of the Hudson Conference, United Lutheran Synod of N. Y. and N. E. and The Lutheran Church in America, name of the new church with whom the United Lutheran Church in America will be merging by 1962.

AMERICAN MENU

Cranberry Crown Tops Cherry Cake

SCRUMPTIOUS Cranberry Jewel cake is made with packaged cherry mix, topped with frosting and cranberry glaze.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Begin the New Year with two special cake mix recipes with minimum work.

Cranberry Jewel Cake

(Serves 8 to 10)

One package cherry cake mix, 2 cups fresh or frozen-thawed whole cranberries, 1 cup granulated sugar, grated rind of 1 medium orange, 2 tablespoons water, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons warm water, 1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar.

Prepare cherry cake mix according to package directions. Turn into greased and floured ring mold (3-quart capacity). Bake in preheated 350 degrees F. oven for 35 to 40 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool 10 to 15 minutes. Turn out on rack to cool. Transfer to serving plate. Cake should be upside down. Mix in saucepan cranberries, granulated sugar and orange rind. Cook over low heat 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Blend together water and cornstarch. Add to cranberries. Cook over low heat stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Cool. Blend together until smooth 2 tablespoons warm water and confectioners' sugar. Pour over ring cake. Spoon cranberry-glaze over top of frosting.

Apple Delight

One cup brown sugar (firmly packed), 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine, 1 package burnt sugar cake mix, water, 2 eggs, 1 can sliced apples (approximately 1 pound, 4 ounces), commercial sour cream.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Grease and flour oblong baking pan 9x13-inches, or two 8-inch square pans. In small bowl, crumb together butter, sugar and cinnamon. Squeeze contents of burnt sugar packet (inside box of cake mix), into a measuring cup. Add enough water to make one cup liquid. Add liquid and eggs to dry cake mixture. Mix according to package directions. Pour batter into prepared baking pan. Cover entire top of cake batter with apple slices. Sprinkle with butter-sugar crumb mixture. Bake 35 minutes, or until cake tests done. Let cake remain in pan ONE MINUTE before turning out on cake rack. Serve warm, cut in squares with ribbon of sour cream.

Thief a Mechanic

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Tom Flannery, 33, would like to locate the thief who stole his automobile "to find out how he got it started."

Flannery had left the car in a lot because he had been unable to start it during the cold weather. The car was stolen last week and recovered the same day. Flannery said Wednesday night he had not been able to start it since.

Police said the thief drove off by crossing ignition wires.

Statesmen to Confer

PARIS (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will spend the weekend of Jan. 28 in France for talks with President Charles de Gaulle, authorized sources announced today.

The two statesmen will make a general survey of current problems, the sources said, refusing to be more specific.

Chenango Transit Gets Right to Raise Fares

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Chenango Valley Transit will charge a uniform 30 cent minimum fare on its interurban bus routes, beginning Jan. 8.

The Public Service Commission accepted today a tariff amendment filed by Austin F. Robbins of Binghamton, operator of the lines. Fares will increase 5 or 10 cents for riders making short trips.

Chenango Valley Transit operates routes between Binghamton and Utica via Norwich and Sangerfield and via Norwich and Hamilton, and between Binghamton and Roscoe via Hancock.

Present fares range from 20 cents to $2.45 on the Binghamton-Roscoe route.

Robbins told the PSC he had lost nearly $500 in 1959. He estimated that the higher fares would produce about $400 in additional annual revenue.

Taipei Sets Goals

TAIPEI (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist government today announced plans to invest $200 million in the development of water resources, forestry, fishing and animal husbandry on Formosa in the next four years. About 35 per cent of the amount will come from U.S. aid.

Bills Ask More

Chance to Give

Public Information

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Two bills designed to make public information more public were introduced in the Legislature today.

Assemblyman Wilson C. Van Duzer, R-Middletown, submitted a measure to require that all public meetings of public boards and agencies be open to all. Any official who denied a citizen the right to attend such meetings would be guilty of a misdemeanor.

An exception would be executive sessions where no action is taken.

Votes taken in the Legislature would be flashed on a screen in public view, under terms of Assemblyman John J. Ryan's bill.

The Brooklyn Democrat also would require use of electronic roll-call apparatus.

At present, voting is done by voice and the clerks tabulate results.

In a measure submitted Wednesday, passengers on commercial aircraft would be banned from operating radios or other receiving and transmitting devices.

The bill apparently stems from the speculation after the airplane collision over New York City Dec. 16 that a passenger's transistor radio may have interfered with the navigational instruments in one of the planes.

The bill was sponsored by Assemblyman Thomas V. La Fauci, D-Queens.

Too Old To Sing

A young bluebird must hear the song of an experienced adult before it becomes a little more than a year old, or it will never be able to sing a bluebird's song.

Birds reared in sound isolation from the time they left the egg were unable to sing the typical bluebird's song. But birds reared the same way from the fledgling stage were able to sing.

Cornell University ornithologists report that birds allowed to hear recorded bird songs before they became 15 months old learned to sing.

A Word for Worm

The ancient Chinese language is having trouble with the specific modern world of science, scientists report.

All animals are described by the word for worm. A tiger is a big worm, a snake is a long worm, and a mouse is an old worm. All swimming animals are fish, be they whale or octopus.

Writers in Albany Vote Westchester Scribe President

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Joseph W. Shannon, of the Macy-Westchester newspapers, is the new president of the Legislative Correspondents Association.

Shannon was elected Wednesday to succeed Douglas S. Diles of The New York Times.

Other officers elected were James Desmond, New York Daily News, first vice president; Jack W. Germond, Gannett News Service, second vice president; Arthur Massolo, New York Post, third vice president; Raymond I. Borst, Buffalo Evening News, treasurer; and Edward W. Bates of the Troy Record Newspapers and the American Banker, secretary.

Charles N. Quinn, of the New York Herald Tribune, was elected to the board of directors.

Directors re-elected were Elmer N. O'Brien, Gannett News Service, chairman; Norris Pritton, The Associated Press; Kirtland I. King, United Press International; Warren Weaver Jr., The New York Times; Walter V. McDonald of the New York World Telegram and Sun; John M. Greene, of the Long Island Daily Press; Arvis Chalmer, Albany Knickerbocker News and Thomas C. Stowell of Fairchild Publications.

Boom and Bust Course

'60 Seaway Use Is About Same as '59

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP)—Overseas shipping on the St. Lawrence Seaway in the 1960 season followed a course between boom and bust.

Over-all, there was little change from 1959, the first full season since deepening of the waterway opened it to larger ocean vessels.

Cargoes during the first deep-water season failed to live up to advance expectations. Volume in the second season was disappointing in the sense that it didn't measure up to hopes for strong, steady, year-to-year gains.

A survey of ports on the U.S. shores of the Great Lakes showed increases in export-import business at some and decreases at others.

The big influences were a downturn in business generally in this country and a strike of dock workers at major ports in the spring.

Milwaukee's foreign commerce added up to 230,497 tons in 1960 compared with 197,173 in 1959.

Detroit's overseas tonnage up to Nov. 1 totaled 489,791 compared with 265,932 for all of 1959.

Cleveland's 1960 exports and imports have been reckoned at 225,000 tons, about the same as in 1959.

Chicago's export-import cargoes dropped from 1,187,266 tons in 1959 to 1,066,394 in 1960.

In Buffalo, N.Y., foreign commerce declined from 108,300 tons in 1959 to 102,800 in 1960. The Port Authority blamed a slowdown in general business, a steel slump and two strikes by stevedores.

Export-import trade made gains in such smaller ports as Green Bay, Wis., Erie, Pa., and Oswego, Ogdensburg and Rochester, N.Y.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. said final statistics on traffic through the Seaway—the water route from Montreal to Lake Ontario—will not be available until February. But indications are they will show little change from the 20,103,767 tons in 1959.

Jury Accuses Youth In Car, Gun Thefts

A 17-year-old Dutchess County youth, whose father is a teacher in the Spackenkill school, Town of Poughkeepsie, was indicted by a grand jury Tuesday on 22 counts involving automobile thefts, illegal possession and use of firearms and burglary.

Steven Edgerton Carver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Carver, Woodmere Park, Town of Poughkeepsie, is accused of stealing four automobiles, four sets of license plates, five guns and with committing four burglaries.

The defendant, a Poughkeepsie High School senior, also is accused in the indictment of carrying and using dangerous weapons.

McGarvey, Chief Deputy to Quit Troopers Feb. 9

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Francis S. McGarvey will retire from his post as State Police superintendent and George M. Searle from his chief deputy job, the Albany Times-Union reported today.

Both men will leave office Feb. 9, the newspaper said.

McGarvey was unavailable for comment.

Searle said any statement must come from "other authorities."

The superintendent's retirement would mark the exit of the last of the original members of the State Police. McGarvey, 64, enlisted July 12, 1917.

Searle, 62, became a trooper Aug. 1, 1922 and was named deputy superintendent July 16, 1944.

Gov. Rockefeller is expected to name former Superintendent Albin S. Johnson as McGarvey's successor, the Times-Union said.

Johnson was a Gov. Thomas E. Dewey appointment July 31, 1953.

McGarvey succeeded Johnson Jan. 24, 1955, when McGarvey was appointed by former Gov. Averell Harriman.

Rockefeller reappointed McGarvey Jan. 1, 1959.

The salary for superintendent is $17,374 annually.

The newspaper said Deputy Chief Inspector Daniel Glasheen of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation probably will succeed Searle.

As deputy superintendent, Searle is in charge of all activities of the uniformed branch of the State Police.

Proposals Offer Little Ground for Controversy

See Rocky's Message Strategy For '62, National Aspirations

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's 1961 message offers little in the way of major, new state programs despite its 16,000 words and 57 different topics.

The message to the Legislature this week is further evidence that Rockefeller is hoping for a peaceful interval to regain lost political ground, strengthen the Republican organization and otherwise prepare for his campaign for reelection next year.

May Enter 1964 Field

And there also is strong evidence that, if the governor is re-elected by a wide margin, he will bid for the Republican nomination for president in 1964.

To carry out this strategy, Rockefeller hopes to avoid the conflict and opposition generated by such sweeping proposals as his tax-increase program of 1959, the fallout shelter, and new school tax proposals of 1960.

As a result, his 1961 program offers little ground for controversy. He deals gingerly with potential trouble areas, such as the full crew law and legislation to curb racial discrimination in private housing.

There is a full quota of the generalities and vagueness that often characterize such documents.

Basically Federal Plan

The governor bears down heavily on the theme that state government, rather than federal is the proper place for solving important problems facing the people.

But a major program offered by Rockefeller is basically a federal plan. It would expand medical care for the elderly and the proposal offered by Rockefeller is based on a substantial increase in federal funds and a sharp cut in local funds. The state would also increase its share.

The governor also turns to the federal government in what appears to be a desire to disassociate himself from his controversial fall-out-shelter program of 1960.

"A fallout shelter program can be effectively implemented at the state, local and family levels only if it is backed by federal policy and by federal leadership and example," the governor said.

Under the 1960 proposal, all homeowners and other property owners would have had to build shelters for protection against radioactive fallout from nuclear attack.

Asks Appropriate Action

On the full crew law, the governor called for "appropriate action at this session" upon recommendations by the Public Service Commission. The commission urged the law, which specifies the number of crewmen on railroad trains, be repealed. Put a spokesman for Rockefeller said the governor was not urging repeal.

Rockefeller himself said, however, that he would sign a full-crew repealer, provided it made provision for "human factors" in the jobs in dispute. He said legislation to achieve this end had not been worked out and he was discussing it with organized labor.

Thus, it was apparent the governor hoped to deal with full-crew without tangling with labor unions.

Rockefeller's major recommendations this year will deal with increased state spending for highways and schools, but he has not yet made specific proposals.

While his plans for continued record spending in those areas will send the state budget upward, he recommended a 10 per cent refund on 1960 state income taxes.

Sources close to the governor say this also was advocated, in part at least, to offset the tidal waves of criticism that engulfed Rockefeller after the tax increases of 1959. It also was calculated to help him return to high point popularity he enjoyed two years ago.

GOV. ROCKEFELLER ADDRESSES LEGISLATURE — At a joint session of the New York State Legislature in Albany Jan. 4, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller delivers his annual message. Rockefeller outlined his plans to give a 10 per cent personal income tax reduction on 1960 earnings and a broad program for higher school spending, greater expenditures for highway construction, medical care for the aging. Rockefeller asked that non-resident taxpayers be permitted to itemize all deductions that a resident can claim. (NEA Telephoto)

Stratton Urges U. S.-Made Gloves For Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy will soon receive a pair of formal gray leather gloves to wear at his inauguration Jan. 20.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., sent them to Kennedy Wednesday with a request that he and his associates wear only American-made gloves at the inaugural ceremonies.

Not only would this set the inaugural style, Stratton said, but it would also be a shot in the arm for the economically hard-pressed domestic glove industry, most of which is centered in Stratton's congressional district.

Stratton also sent to Kennedy a pair of white leather gloves for Mrs. Kennedy's use at the inauguration.

Both pairs were made in Gloversville, N.Y.

Hollywood News, Views

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can a beautiful girl named George win fame and fortune in Hollywood? "Just call me George, everybody does," said blonde Georgine Darcy, a girl with more curves than an Alpine pass.

George is a Brooklyn girl with a problem. She always is being discovered and then slipping back into obscurity. Once she was in a movie with James Stewart and the now princess of Monaco—and got more publicity than either of the movie.

Dubbed 'Miss Torso'

It was an Alfred Hitchcock thriller called "Rear Window." Stewart, confined to his room, spent his spare time in the movie looking at his apartment house neighbors through binoculars.

George was a curvaceous party girl who lived across the way and Stewart's binoculars focused on her most of the movie.

Hitchcock dubbed her "Miss Torso." He said he just couldn't bring himself to call her George.

Then she faded. Looking back, she reflects: "I guess I should have pushed myself after that publicity but I'm not a pusher."

Next Jerry Lewis discovered her, put her in a movie or two and then made her a stooge in his night club act. George is a dancer and singer, too.

When that ended, she went quietly back to obscurity—and waited.

Lucille Ball next discovered her and made her enroll in the Desilu Workshop.

Credits Lucy's Help

"Lucy has never stopped helping me," says George, "and she has given me more encouragement than anyone. She found out that I am really a shy girl. She told me that she is too and showed me ways of overcoming shyness. She spent weeks helping me with comedy timing."

Miss Ball spotted George in Desilu's "Harrigan and Son" TV show where she plays the impish secretary.

George asked me how she can prevent another lapse into obscurity? My answer: "Next time you meet a producer, don't tell him your nickname is George. Use Georgia or Georgine."

Fluid Milk Price May Get Action Early by Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The problem of fluid milk pricing is expected to be dealt with early in the Kennedy Administration, according to the incoming secretary of agriculture.

Gov. Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota — President-elect Kennedy's choice for the agriculture cabinet post—was quoted by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., as saying the fluid milk issue will be one of the first problems the Kennedy administration will face.

Stratton said Freeman promised that no farm program decisions would be made without first considering the impact on New York dairy farmers.

Fluid milk prices have been fixed by the federal government in the New York-New Jersey milk marketing area covering most of Northern New Jersey and Eastern and Central New York.

Stratton described Freeman as sympathetic to the problems of the New York dairyman and said that Freeman "impressed me favorably."

Freeman was urged by Stratton to include in the official agriculture family someone familiar with New York's dairy problem. Stratton said he mentioned no names.

Time May Be Running Out for Cuba

Castro's Fear, Desperation Evident in His Provocation For U. S. to Break Relations

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

There is evidence that Fidel Castro deliberately sought to make the United States break relations with Cuba, and that his provocations in this respect grew out of fear and desperation.

The Castro revolution is in trouble. It is doubtful whether the Communist bloc possesses the means and the ability to keep the Cuban regime above water.

Castro seems to fear that other Latin American governments, no longer able to abide interference in their affairs, are themselves about to call it quits with him.

Castro and his Communist advisers want to be able to say that the United States has forced those other governments to break relations, that this proves U.S. "imperialist" maneuvers and bad intentions toward Cuba. He wants to use the forthcoming breaks in relations as pegs for new agitation against existing governments elsewhere in the Western Hemisphere.

This is not just speculation. The Fidelistas have learned from the Communists the technique of accusing an enemy of what one plans oneself. A few weeks ago the Castro newspaper Revolution told its readers that the United States was planning a new offensive against Cuba and was "putting pressure on puppet governments of the continent to put it into effect."

It added: "The four points of this plan are as follows: A collective break of diplomatic relations with Cuba; an economic embargo; establishment of an inter-American police force and the creation of a committee to study the political situation in Latin American nations."

Anxious for Excuses

The Communist bloc is anxious for additional excuses to stir up popular unrest against existing Latin American governments and is intent upon using Cuba to full advantage while the opportunity still exists to do so. Castro has become the creature of the Communist bloc because he has made his revolutionary government almost totally dependent upon Red nations for economic support. He is now theirs to command.

But Castro has many troubles, including rising labor discontent, the beginnings of organized resistance and the flight of educated people from Cuba. The break in U.S. relations will slow this flight.

Money Goes to Dogs

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Tavern operator John L. Lynch, 34, left income from his $25,000 estate to his two boxer dogs, Bing, 10, and Rusty, 5.

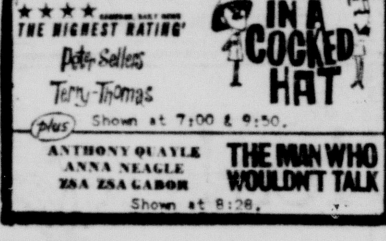

Mary Lou Grant, a neighbor, said Mrs. Lynch had left $3,000 for the dogs when she died last March, Lynch died Dec. 20.

The money will go to charities when the dogs die.

Shadowy Time Between Washington Changes

Events Abroad to Shape Future Regardless of Differences Here

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — This is that shadowy time when the outgoing president's statements look more like historic documents than words which have to be acted on and the incoming president is speechless until he takes office.

Yet, no matter what either man thinks or says—President Eisenhower or President-elect Kennedy—the future is going to be shaped by events abroad perhaps more surely than anything they could do at home.

May Just Review Regime
Before Kennedy assumes office Jan. 20 Eisenhower must send Congress his State of the Union message, his budget message and finally his economic report.

But Congress is run by Democrats. Kennedy has ideas of his own. Eisenhower's State of the Union message will be dutifully read but not acted on. Because this is so, Eisenhower may avoid suggestions and just review his eight years.

Within a few weeks after Eisenhower departs Kennedy will probably send Congress his own State of the Union message, just as Eisenhower did after taking over from President Truman in 1953.

Eisenhower didn't follow up Truman's budget message with one of his own—it's too complicated to be put together in days or weeks—but quickly ordered his government agency heads to keep spending below Truman's figures.

Won't Forget Figures
Kennedy, who has shown less rigidity than Eisenhower in money matters, isn't expected to be as tight as his predecessor. But the Eisenhower budget figures won't be forgotten as soon as the State of the Union message.

They'll serve as a yardstick for Kennedy's critics to measure him any time his programs get more expensive than what Eisenhower had in mind. This may make Kennedy a little self-conscious. It will not necessarily deter him.

As for Eisenhower's economic report—Kennedy has argued the rate of economic growth under Eisenhower has been too little. He doesn't have to send this kind of report to Congress in his first year.

His ideas will unfold as he goes along, so, in the sense that Eisenhower's two messages and his report will be read but not acted on, his remaining White House days are a shadowy time. But there's another area of shadow, too.

Reluctant to Act
Eisenhower, like any president with a concern for the country and a sense of fairness, must be reluctant to launch the United States in a course of action on foreign affairs which will bind Kennedy to follow it because of its deep commitment.

It can be assumed, therefore, that Eisenhower thought it absolutely necessary to break off diplomatic relations with Cuba before Kennedy came in. Kennedy isn't apt to complain.

But if Eisenhower got the United States involved in shooting in Laos, Kennedy could hardly then pull American forces out. Eisenhower has been hesitant about taking drastic steps in Laos.

Still, in the remaining 15 days before Kennedy is sworn in, Laos may become so explosive that Eisenhower will feel compelled to act in a way which Kennedy later could not repudiate or abandon.

Tiny Differences
But Kennedy is coming into office at a time of revolution and increasing turmoil around the earth. His ideas and Eisenhower's on what this country should be doing may be rendered obsolete before the year is out.

Then any present differences between Kennedy and Eisenhower—on defense, spending, foreign aid and entanglements—will seem tiny by comparison with the efforts this country will be forced to make to combat communism and trouble.

Nasser Plan Faces Defeat

Morocco, Ghana Are Firm in Opposition To Aiding Lumumba

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—King Mohammed V of Morocco and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana were standing firm today against a proposal by U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser to send a joint African military force to the aid of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba of the Congo.

The king and Nkrumah, according to reliable informants, blocked Nasser's plan to make his proposal publicly at the opening session Wednesday of the five-nation "African summit" meeting. Instead, the conference closed its doors to public and press after the king's opening speech.

The outlook was that Nasser's proposal would be finally turned down despite vigorous support from President Sekou Toure of Guinea and the open sympathy of the government chiefs for Lumumba's cause.

The conference probably will agree on a resolution demanding that the United Nations free Lumumba from prison and reinstate him as premier in Leopoldville.

Nasser's idea was for the five nations represented here withdraw their troops from the U.N. force in the Congo and put them at the disposal of the pro-Lumumba rump regime in Stanleyville.

Nasser himself is not willing to take such action alone.

Nkrumah's plan for an African "high command" to replace the United Nations in the Congo or in similar situations also ran into opposition and was not publicly proposed.

Democrat Asking For More Room

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Sen. Thomas J. Mackell, Queens Democrat, sounded an impassioned plea during the organizational meeting of the State Senate for a bigger office.

Mackell, who first was elected in 1955, charged the Republican majority was conferring on Democrats the status of "second-class senators."

Walter J. Mahoney, Republican majority leader of the Senate, retorted that he recalled serving when "another party" was in the majority and operating out of a "telephone-booth" office.

Mackell noted that an addition had been built outside the office he shared with four other Democrats last year to house further mimeographing facilities for the Republican majority.

He urged Mahoney to work to move the State Police, Court of Claims and other non-legislative offices from the ancient State Capitol.

Mahoney replied that office space had been expanded for all members of the Senate in recent years and that he was hopeful the non-legislative bureaus would be removed from the Capitol "within the near future."

Mahoney acknowledged that all senators were cramped for space. Following the exchange Wednesday, the Senate marched to the Assembly to hear Gov. Rockefeller's annual message to the Legislature.

Asks for Revocation

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission revoked today all operating rights held by Jesse Burger of Lake George for bus service between Hadley and Glens Falls via Corinth and Luzerne.

Burger asked for the revocation. He said the bus operation had lost money in each of the last four years. Burger had run the service since 1950.

Sondak-Krieger
Wedding Announced

On Sunday, Nov. 6, 1960, Miss Ariene Sondak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sondak of Accord, and Joel B. Krieger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Krieger of New York City, were united in marriage at a double ring ceremony performed by Rabbi Herman Eisner, at 4 p. m. at the Granit Hotel in Kerhonkson.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and wore a white silk organza floor length gown with a chapel train, fingertip length sleeves, and seed pearl neckline. Her crown was of seed pearls with a Queen Anne net veil. She carried a cascade of white orchids.

Miss Doris Sondak was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a pale blue tiered waltz length dress and carried a nosegay of white carnations.

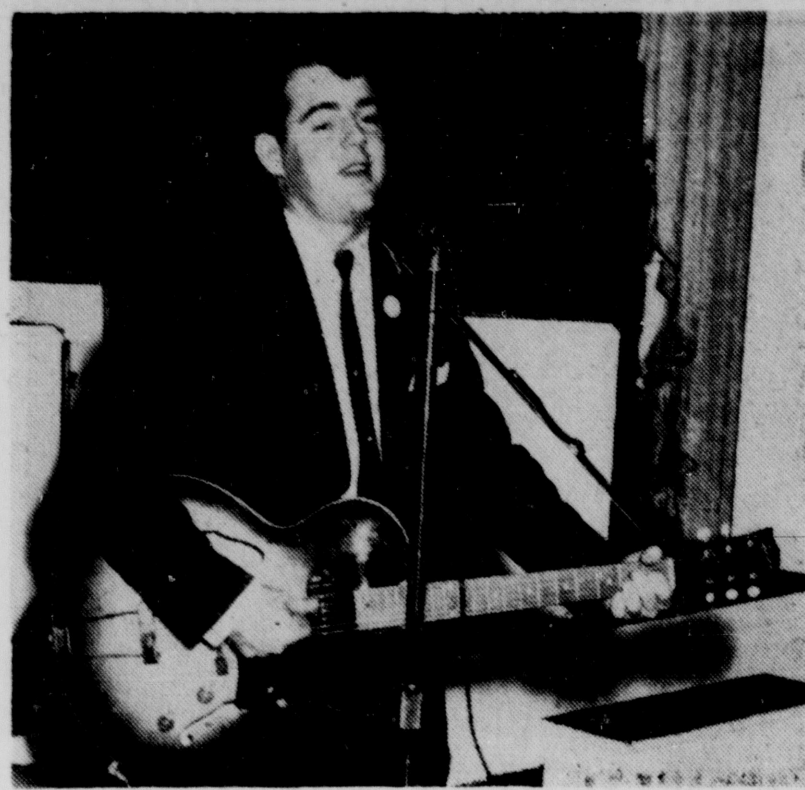

David Krieger, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man.

The mother of the bride and mother of the bridegroom wore Dier blue chiffon sheaths and carried white camellias.

The couple was attended by 10 ushers: Terry Sondak, Barry Bank, Mike Wergiles, Victor Warren, Mel Goldberg, Barry Arbiloff, Hy Weinsbank, Pat Friscia, Charles Shark and William Wolfson.

A reception for 180 guests was given after the wedding ceremony.

After a wedding trip to Puerto Rico, Mr. and Mrs. Krieger will reside in Rego Park, N. Y.

JIMMY BANNER

Kingston Youth Hopes to Tag Stardom
As Guitarist and Singer; Started at 13

A guitarist, and singer from Kingston is climbing the ladder of success in New York City and hopes some day to carve out a spot for himself in the entertainment world. He is Jimmy Banner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scarano of 111 Wurts Street, this city.

The talented 22-year-old, who took Banner as a professional name, actually started his music career when he was 10 years old. But it was at age 13 he won his first talent recognition as a performer on the Kate Smith television show, winning $500.

Charles Strand of the New York Post in an article on Dec. 28, writes " . . . the fact that he (Banner) is up against stiff competition as a ballad singing guitarist doesn't frighten Jimmy in the least. He professes that neither headache nor hardship will keep him from finding his niche in the entertainment world."

Jimmy and his father, who is also a guitarist and violinist, teamed up with his sister, now Mrs. Anne Rick, and filled many engagements as a three-piece combo. Mrs. Rick, a graduate of the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing, is a nurse on the staff of the Benedictine. The family, former residents of the Bronx and Greenwood Lake, moved to the Kingston area in 1958.

Jimmy Banner served as a carrier for the New York Post in 1951, as did his father and three uncles when they were youths, Mr. Strand writes. He was graduated from St. Benedict's School, Bronx, and St. John's High School in Goshen.

Benefits, school shows, parties and appearances with his father and sister helped Jimmy to work on his style before entering the professional field. For three years he served with the 82nd Airborne Division in North Carolina and returned to civilian life in 1960. Banner is credited with 32 parachute jumps.

Banner also made two recordings for Twentieth Century Fox.

ARRIVING LATE AT CHURCH

Question: I have a pet peeve which I hope you will write about in your column and bring to the attention of the offenders. It seems every Sunday after the service has begun, some woman will parade up the aisle to a front pew with her spike heels clack clacking all the way. This is very distracting and usually causes people to turn around and look. It seems to me that late arrivals should have sense enough to find a seat in the back of the church or at least walk quietly. Isn't this very bad manners?

Answer: It is always bad manners, and especially in a place of worship, to needlessly disturb others and attract their attention. Those arriving late at church should most certainly be seated as quickly and quietly as possible.

A Not Very Clean Fork

Question: My husband and I had dinner last evening at a friend's house. I noticed that the fork at my place was not washed too well and there were particles of food still on it. I asked the hostess if I might have another fork. She said of course and promptly got me another one. Later my husband said that I was very rude to have asked for another fork and that I had embarrassed our hostess by doing so. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

Answer: Yes, I'm sorry to say you were. You might have let your fork fall to the floor and then, if your hostess did not offer you another one, you would have had an excuse to wipe it clean with your napkin in your lap out of sight, under the table's edge.

The Bridegroom's Widowed Mother

Question: Does the widowed mother of the bridegroom sit alone in the front pew? If not, who would be the proper one to sit with her?

Answer: Any relative she wishes, or even a close friend may properly be asked to sit beside her.

The Emily Post Institute is sorry it cannot answer personal mail.

Give Variety Meats a Try

One way to economize on family meals now that holiday extravaganzas are over is to give variety meats a try. Budget-minded food shoppers will find tags low in price but extra high in important nutrients on variety meats, such as liver, kidney, and heart. Variety meats, as their name implies, offer variety in flavor and texture, perhaps a key to why European cooks have long fancied them as delicacies. Variety meats also offer shoppers a wide selection of types from which to choose.

Variety meats include liver, tongue, kidney, heart, brains, sweetbreads, and tripe. Most variety meats are available in beef, veal, pork, and lamb—presenting the meat shopper with a wide selection. Unlike porterhouse steaks or lamb chops that have their seasonal ups and downs in price, many variety meats are low cost meat items the year around.

The price tag on the meat you buy depends in part on the supply of the meat and in part on its popularity with consumers. Since variety meats enjoy only a limited popularity, supplies are usually large, and so price tags are generally low to attract meat shoppers.

Variety meats feature economy in still another way than their low cost per pound. Since most variety meats have no bone, excess fat or skin waste, it is possible to get more servings per pound than from most cuts of meat.

Generally, you can count on five servings from a pound of such variety meats as liver, heart, and kidney. Tongue, because of its excess fat and skin waste, is an exception, yielding only three servings from a pound.

Variety meats have been referred to as storehouses of important nutrients, and well they might be. Liver is actually the storehouse for vitamin A, the vitamin that is particularly important for preventing night blindness. One 3-ounce serving of cooked liver provides more than enough vitamin A to satisfy the body's needs for a week and so is strongly recommended to appear on the menu once a week.

In addition to vitamin A, liver is an excellent source of many other nutrients. History and science attach varying values to variety meats.

The limited popularity of variety meats in some parts of the world today may be a vestige of a religious taboo dating back for many centuries. During one phase of man's development the internal organs of animals were used for sacrificial offerings to the gods. Only gods and the priesthood were allowed to eat them, they were prohibited to ordinary men.

In contrast, natives of the Sudan have a religious belief that every person has a soul which resides in the liver, and character and physical growth depend on how well the soul is fed by eating the liver of animals. The liver is so sacred that it may not be touched by human hands. Accordingly, it is always handed with specially prepared forked sticks, spears, or sabers. It is eaten both raw and cooked.

The value of liver in the diets of American people gained much prestige when scientists discovered its curative powers in certain anemias. Demand for calves' liver grew as a result of this discovery, and the price of calves' liver soared. Later it was learned that beef, pork and lamb liver were comparable in nutritional worth.

Cook variety meats, like all meats, according to their tenderness. Calf, lamb, and most beef liver is tender—and may be broiled or panfried. Pork liver is not so tender and is best braised.

Veal and lamb kidneys are from young animals, are tender, and may be broiled. Beef and pork kidneys should be cooked in liquid or braised. Heart and tongue from all animals are less tender than liver or kidneys and need long, slow cooking in moisture. Beef heart, because of its size, needs longer cooking than lamb, pork, or veal heart.

At the Markets

Meat—Beef and lamb will be top features at many markets after the holidays. In beef look for roasts, particularly round and boneless chuck. Legs of lamb and loin chops will be economy lamb selections. Broiler marketings will be greater than a year ago and some markets may feature them.

Dairy Products—Cheese is a thrifty item for post-holiday meals. Production of cheese is high and prices reasonable. Butter prices are below year ago levels.

Fish and Shellfish—Landings of fresh fish reach a seasonal low at this time of the year. In the New York metropolitan area ample supplies are available from cold storage for clams, crab meat, fillets of cod, flounder, haddock, and scallops, shrimp and whiting. Fruit—Economy fruit buys for the post-holiday period include apples, cranberries, bananas and some citrus fruits. McIntosh, an all-purpose apple variety, is prominently displayed at fruit counters. This is the season for tangerines and the crop this year is 50 per cent larger than a year ago. Small and medium-sized oranges and grapefruit are reasonably priced.

Vegetables—Storage stocks of potatoes in the Northeast, source of most of this area's supply, are 8 per cent greater than a year ago. Cabbage, too, is plentiful and priced below a year ago. These two vegetable staples can help in planning economy meals.

Kingston Evening Unit

Members of the Kingston Evening Unit will meet Tuesday, Jan. 10 at 8 p. m. in the Colonial Gardens community rooms.

Sewing screen lesson will be given Jan. 11 and 18 with Mrs. Lillian Cameron, Mrs. Carolyn O'Reilly and Mrs. Marie Lebert, leaders.

Hostesses for the evening will be Miss Nancy Hussey, Mrs. Alice Swieca and Mrs. Helene Szczawinsky.

Wiltwyck Unit

A short business meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 10 at 1

p. m. after which a demonstration on the art of making plastic flowers will be given by Mrs. Gertrude West.

A class will also be formed for members later this month.

As a pleasant finishing touch to a shampoo, put a few drops of your favorite cologne in the last rinse water.

Hodges Destined For Salary Cut, Lost to Larker

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gil Hodges, Los Angeles Dodgers first baseman, seems destined for a salary slash in 1961.

Hodges lost his job to Norm Larker, who battled Dick Groat right down to the final day of the 1960 National League batting title.

Buzzie Bavasi, Dodger general manager, said Wednesday, he hasn't given any thought to salary cuts, but that there will be few raises.

"Norm Larker and Maury Wills are about the only ones who deserve raises," said Bavasi.

Shortstop Wills led the National League with 30 stolen bases and batted .295 in his first full year in the majors.

Hodges batted .198, hit only eight homers, and drove in 29 runs.

Frick Names Board to Aid N. L. 1962 Expansion Move

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The National League, following the "sane and orderly" route to expansion prescribed by Commissioner Ford Frick, has set up a committee to study means of securing players for Houston and New York, the clubs to be added in 1962.

At the same time, major league club owners will decide, in a mail vote, whether to allow the newcomers to enter into working agreements with minor league clubs this season to develop players.

The five-man committee composed of general managers is to make a report to the National League at its mid-summer meeting. The results of the mail vote, which would give Houston and

New York a chance to sign free agents and call them up from the minors at the end of this season, should be known within two weeks or so.

That's a relatively leisurely pace compared to the American League's hurried and harried expansion program, which burst upon the scene in October and which calls for a 10-team operation when the 1961 season opens in April.

The two new American League clubs—Los Angeles and Washington—drew their players from a cash-for-castoffs pool at $75,000 each and in a special, and limited, minor league draft.

The pool arrangement, in which the established clubs wound up with untried youngsters, fringe players and hangers-on, is something the National League would like to avoid.

1961 Harness Races To Open at Buffalo

NEW YORK (AP)—The Upstate Harness Racing season will open at Buffalo Raceway.

The New York State Harness Racing Commission Wednesday gave Buffalo Raceway the option of opening either April 14 or April 21. The track closes July 13. Buffalo Raceway was also granted permission to have one afternoon program July 4.

Werner Wustrau Hits 30 Points for Accord

The YMCA Basketball League produced two overtime thrillers last night, as Hub Delicatessen nipped Accord, 63-61, and Wiedy's toppled Maines Automotive, 62 to 56.

Individual heroes were plentiful but there were several stickouts, including Werner Wustrau, Lou Vanacore and Al Short.

The victory was the first in four tries for the Wiedy troupe, while Hub set its record at 2 and 1.

Lou Vanacore, the former Ontario Central sharpshooter, canned eight straight fouls and a basket to send the Wiedy's Maines struggle into overtime.

Then Vanacore converted 4 out of 5 additional foul tries, along with Bruce Wiederspiel's 8 points to win it. Bill DuBois sent the game into overtime with a layup with 4 seconds remaining. The regulation score was 30-30.

Fast Finish

Hub trailed Werner Wustrau and Accord, 56-50, with 1:40 remaining. Al Short hit with two fast shots, a hook and layup, to narrow the gap to 56-54. Accord lost the ball and Nick Nagele hit a hook shot from the foul line to tie the score at 56-56 and send the game into overtime.

A one-hander by Art Carpozis and Short's layup gave the Hub four fast points in the overtime. Werner Wustrau's 29th and 30th points sealed the score to 60-58. His brother, Fred, hit on a layup and it was 62-60 with six seconds left. Art Carpozis canned a free throw to ice the Hub victory.

Wustrau was the night's top point producer with 30 points on a dozen fields and six free throws. Nick Nagele led the Delicatessen with 19 points and Short finished with 16.

Vanacore meshed 22 points for Wiedy's with 12 coming from the foul line. Bruce Wiederspiel hit for 81 points with the Big O getting 32, Twyman 30 and Embry 29.

The Springfield Indians' latest example of why they hold a 16-point lead in the American Hockey League is a 2-1 overtime victory over the Hershey Bears.

The defense of the defending champions never was better as they whipped the Bears in the league's only game Wednesday night. They threw up such a wall in front of Marcel Paille that the Bears had only 18 shots at the goal. And the league's No. 1 goal minder turned back all except one.

ED DONOHUE RETURNS

One of Poughkeepsie High School's all-time great athletes will return to Kingston Friday night, but this time as a coach. He's Eddie Donohue, a four-letter star for Coach Sam J. Kalloch from 1945 through 1948.

Donohue is coach of the varsity basketball and baseball teams at Our Lady of Lourdes, the new parochial high school in Poughkeepsie. The Lourdes crew will be at the Kate Walton Field House tomorrow night for a meeting with the Maroon five and it will be good to see the personable Donohue here. He was not only an outstanding athlete but is one of the nice coaches in the fraternity.

Though this represents the first varsity basketball team at Lourdes, it may not be the only year the team will play Kingston. Donohue has hinted to this reporter that the school will apply for admission to the DUSO League, probably at the next meeting of the circuit moguls.

TURNED DOWN BY THE DCSL

Lourdes has already been turned down twice by schools in the Dutchess County Scholastic League. The main reason given was because they're afraid that Lourdes will give scholarships in an attempt to get athletes at the school. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

By next September, this parochial school, located in the former Poughkeepsie High School building, will have a total enrollment of about 1150, divided almost evenly between boys and girls. They are accepted as students only after taking a competitive examination. Whether they are athletes or not has no bearing whatsoever on their acceptance at the school.

Though the present cage team is anything but a powerhouse (it has met and lost to seven opponents), Donohue feels there has been improvement. Two big handicaps facing the squad are lack of practice facilities and the fact that each game is away from home. The team practices at the IBM Country Club, whenever it's available. Since there is no gym as yet at the school (the old "bandbox" has been turned into a cafeteria), all games have to be on the road.

There's a new gym being built and Donohue hopes it will be ready by the second semester of next season. Meanwhile, the boys keep plugging away. In the recent Marist Invitational tourney in New York City, Lourdes won the Sportsmanship Trophy and forward Pete Donnelly, who tallied 23 points, was awarded an all-star team berth.

SOLID CREDENTIALS

Donohue, who came to Lourdes last season, has solid credentials. At Poughkeepsie, he played three years of varsity football, baseball and basketball and was a broad jumper on the track team. He saw action against Eddie Weaver, Mike Rienzo, Joe Albany and company.

He played a year of semi-pro football with the Poughkeepsie Indians and this earned him a scholarship to Niagara University. From there he enlisted in the Air Force and was a member of the World Wide baseball champions. In 1954, he was discharged and he finished college at Syracuse, this time with a wife and two children to help. Donohue received his bachelor degree in 1956 and a masters in 1957.

He coached at Belfast High, near Olean, in 1958 and 1959. During that time, his baseball team won its first championship in history and the soccer club won its first title in more than 25 years.

In addition to his coaching, he teaches biology, general science, world history and social studies and after practice, he takes the athletes home.

IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Donohue is very enthusiastic about the future of the school. This year a varsity baseball team will make its first appearance. The schedule promises to be as tough and there will be more losses than wins, but the coach only hopes the players will keep on trying. Next year, there will be a cheerleading squad for the first time, and this will aid the school spirit, though it's very high now.

It will be a pleasure to welcome this newest school to the Kingston High schedule. Let's turn out on Friday and give the visitors a resounding hello.

Basilio Says He Will Quit Ring if Ortega Floors Him

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Carmen Basilio's thrill-packed ring career may end on Saturday night.

That's when the craggy-faced, former welterweight and middleweight champion meets welterweight contender Gaspar Ortega of Mexico in a 10-round television fight at Madison Square Garden.

"Saturday night will determine whether I go on further," said the veteran of 12 years of pro boxing.

Carmen, 33, didn't say flatly he will quit if he loses. But it's obvious that those $10,000 and up purses won't be dangled in front of him if he blows the verdict to a tenth-ranking welterweight contender.

Ortega is a tall, aggressive fighter with a steel chin. The Mexican, 25, never has been stopped in 80 pro fights, most of them lively affairs. Gaspar keeps after an opponent and makes him fight almost a full three minutes every round.

Basilio showed definite signs of wear and tear in his last two title fights with NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer. Fullmer stopped the ex-Marine in 14 rounds on Aug. 28, 1959, and in 12 rounds last June 29.

Carmen's reflex action has slowed and he no longer can keep throwing punches in combinations. The Chittenango (N.Y.) cloutier used to beat down his foes with slashing left-rights to the body.

Despite this obvious slowdown, Basilio has been made a 7-5 choice over Ortega.

Basilio has agreed to make 155 pounds. He will just about hit it on the head, he said today. Ortega will weigh about 150.

Although there has been talk that he intends to campaign for a welterweight (147 pounds) title fight, Carmen said there's nothing to it.

"Make 147 pounds? Sure, if I don't eat for a couple of weeks. I had trouble making that weight several years ago. Success spoils a man. I'm spoiled. Maybe I don't want to torture myself again."

If Ortega makes him hang up his gloves, Basilio will be long remembered despite a so-so won-lost-drawn record (now 54-15-7).

Never a polished fighter, the onetime onion digger made up for his lack of finesse by superb condition, tremendous desire, and relentless attack. He became the fans' favorite for his savage title fights with Kid Gavilan, Tony DeMarco, Sugar Ray Robinson and Fullmer among others.

He Has a Reason

McALESTER, Okla. (AP)—C. B. Coplen, 44, said before he was convicted of jail breaking, that the reason he fled from the Quinton city lockup was because it was too hot and his sentence was too long.

Select Field Set For $5,000 Golf Event on Friday

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Golf took over the local sports scene today with a select field of professionals and amateur celebrities competing in a $5,000 pro-am event as a prelude to the $45,000 Los Angeles Open.

The big show starts its 4-day, 72-hole run Friday at the Rancho Municipal Golf Course in West Los Angeles.

Boasting the richest purse in its history, this 35th annual tournament kicks off the 1961 winter money trail for the professionals.

As usual, the competitors are the best in the nation.

Entered are the top 20 money winners of 1960, headed by Arnold Palmer, the National Open and Masters champion.

Also on hand are Dow Finsterwald, last year's winner here; PGA champion Jay Hebert, as well as his brother Lionel, a former PGA titleholder; Billy Casper Jr., 1960 Vardon Trophy winner and an ex-U.S. Open ruler Art Wall Jr.

Ken Venturi, who came on with a rush to win the 1959 Los Angeles fixture, is another threat, and back in tournament action is still another former U.S. Open winner, Cary Middlecoff.

matter of FACT

Dressed in his homemade suit of armor, Ned Kelly was the terror of the Australian badlands. He plundered citizens of the frontier about the time of our own "wild West." But the unsaintly knight had a chink in his armor. In 1880, Kelly was shot in the leg and brought to justice.

Week of Prayer Series Concludes Tomorrow Night

George Ronk of the Church of the Nazarene is the songleader each evening in the current "Week of United Prayer" and Wednesday night was the sold-out in the service held in that church. There was a duet by Mrs. Joyce and Mrs. Ronk and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Cicio.

The service tonight will be held at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, Franklin and Pine Streets, at 7:30.

The Rev. Dean Harrison, pastor of the Bethel Assembly of God will speak on the theme "Prayer and Its Principles." The pastor of the church, and general chairman of the week of prayer, the Rev. William Crunkilton, will be chairman this evening.

Special music tonight will include a trombone solo by Frank Gannon, a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Cicio, and a male quartet composed of George and DeForest Shaver, Frank Gannon and Gilbert Cicio.

The organist will be Mr. Cicio and the pianist Mrs. Donald Shaver.

Friday evening the closing service will be held at the Salvation Army with the Rev. Willis Scott, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene as speaker.

After the service, a group of evangelical pastors throughout the country will meet to form an evangelical, countywide ministerial association. They will meet monthly for spiritual enrichment, for the reading of papers related to the ministry, and will occasionally invite guest speakers. Forums, panel discussions, debates and general discussion on allied themes will be part of program.

Attendance has increased each night of the week of prayer. All services are at 7:30 p. m. and the public may attend.

Greene Vote Is Tie on Election Job, Barry Out

The Greene County Board of Supervisors failed again to name a Republican Commissioner of Elections at its organizational meeting Wednesday night.

Democratic members objected to appointment of John Barry, Catskill newspaper reporter, as successor to Oscar Miller of Round Top, on grounds his position as a newspaper reporter might be prejudicial.

As a result the board cast a 7 to 7 tie vote and the matter will probably come up again on January 13 when the Greene County board again convenes.

Frank Sullivan, who was recommended as Democratic Election Commissioner, was named without opposition.

At a recent meeting the names of Sullivan and Barry were presented under a joint resolution and the board failed to pass that resolution. Wednesday night Sullivan was named on one resolution and elected. When the resolution on Barry, Republican designee, was presented, Democratic opposition was expressed.

Another name will probably be presented.

Arnold Nicholson, Greenville boardinghouse proprietor, was elected chairman of the board for the second year.

All other appointments remained as of last year.

50 Furloughed At Hercules Plant

N. L. McLeod, works manager of Hercules Powder Company Port Ewen plant, announced today that due to reduced production requirements, it has been necessary to furlough 50 employees effective Friday.

Thirty-six women and 14 men will be affected by the furlough.

The Hercules Port Ewen plant is engaged in production of commercial and military detonators and presently employs approximately 680.

Youths Accused Of Auto Theft After Collision

Two Poughkeepsie youths, who were apprehended after a high-way crash in Fort Montgomery and later charged with second degree grand larceny, pleaded innocent Wednesday before City Judge Charles O'Donnell and received adjournments until Friday at 9 a. m.

The defendants, Louis D. Ruger, 20, a painter, of 4 South Clinton Street, and Harold C. Fratz, 22, of 546 Main Street, both of Poughkeepsie, are accused of the theft of a car owned by Mrs. Dorothy S. Coelho, 13 Cathy Road, Town of Poughkeepsie.

Police said the 1954 sedan was involved in a collision on Tuesday with a car belonging to Emerson Carpenter, Fort Montgomery. Ruger and Fratz were taken into custody following the crash and returned to Poughkeepsie in custody of Detective Jack Durkin.

Judge O'Donnell adjourned the case at the request of Robert Winne, assistant district attorney, who said further investigation of the case will be made by authorities.

Hill Is Named Foreman of Jury

Robert George Hill, 35 West Chestnut Street, was named foreman of the Grand Jury by Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth at the opening of the January trial term of Supreme Court Wednesday. Named acting foreman to serve in the absence of the foreman, was Mrs. Gertrude S. Mat-ton of New Paltz.

Following the exercising of excuses, members of the Grand Jury retired and after selecting Mrs. Carrie Muller Barnhart of Stone Ridge as clerk, began their duties as grand jurors.

Mother and Six Children, Niece Perish in Fire

LYNN, Mass. (AP)—A young mother, six of her seven children and her niece died in an early morning fire today, trapped in bedrooms of a 2½-story tenement.

Fire Chief Walter Carter said the blaze started in the rear of the second floor and spread to the attic.

Investigators said there was only one stairway to the attic bedrooms.

Donald Amirault, 29, the father, saved his youngest child, Dawn Marie, 5 months, by dropping her from a second-floor porch into the air of a neighbor.

He tried to get back into the house to rescue others but a snap locked had closed.

Dead are: Shirley Amirault, 23; her children, Michael, 8; Shirley, 7; Donna, 6; Robert, 4; Kathy, 2; Barbara Jean, 18 months; and the niece, Paula Hollingsworth McGrath, 5 months.

Amirault was awakened by the fire, ran down the attic stairs with Dawn Marie and rushed to the porch. He shouted to William Dutch, 21, a neighbor who caught the child.

Amirault, unable to help the rest of his family, aroused the occupants of the first floor, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nordstrom and their five children. All escaped injury.

Amirault, Dawn Marie, and Barbara Hollingsworth McGrath, Paula's mother, were taken to Lynn Hospital. None was in critical condition.

Won't Serve as Steno

Judge Harry E. Schirick today said that Abraham Strofer, a practicing attorney of Kingston who was Judge Schirick's confidential law assistant during his term on the bench, will not serve as his stenographer, but will continue to give services of a legal nature in connection with Judge Schirick's duties as official referee.

Say Tension High

67 From Cuban Embassy Return

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sixty-seven U. S. Embassy personnel, given 48 hours by Fidel Castro to get out of Cuba, arrived today aboard a car ferry, apparently happy to escape the tensions of Havana.

"It was a scramble to get out in two days," said Eugene A. Gilmore, counselor for economic affairs and No. 2 man in the Havana embassy.

"The tension is very high. We have been passing the word actively to Americans remaining in Cuba, suggesting that they leave. We got out of Havana too fast to gauge the response."

Gilmore said the departure was "smooth—no incidents at all." He said the embassy would be closed and the 10 Americans who stayed would come home in two or three days, as soon as arrangements can be completed for the Swiss to take over.

Counsel-General James E. Brown Jr., another of the arrivals, was asked if he believed the 2,600 Americans remaining in Cuba were in any real danger as a result of the U. S. break in diplomatic relations with the Russian-supported Castro dictatorship.

"Not in a general way," Brown replied.

"I don't think any of them are expecting any immediate trouble except those whose personal activities might endanger them. It will be uncomfortable for them all, however. They ought to get out if there is no compelling reason to stay."

Gilmore said he was under orders to report to Washington immediately and would leave here on the first available plane.

The rest of the group will go to Washington, proceed to their next posts, or go on home leave.

Embassy records that weren't destroyed were sent on ahead by airplane to Key West. Many of the embassy workers left Havana homes and property they couldn't take along.

Two employees, who went to a Havana police station in connection with a complaint of theft of household goods, were jailed themselves and not released until the day the ferry was due to leave.

Driver Fined $50

Timely arrival of Trooper H. S. Rhodes Wednesday night probably saved Lee Hobson, 52, of Arkville from serious if not fatal consequences after his car met with an accident on the Grossman turn on Route 28, Shon-kan. Trooper Rhodes saw Hobson lying off the road and placed him under arrest on a charge of driving while intoxicated. The temperature at the time was in the mid-teens. Before Justice of the Peace Frank C. Carle of town of Olive a $50 fine was imposed and paid today and Hobson's license was revoked.
